

7 Americans Run Aground, Aided by Cuba

Boat Hits Reef
3 Miles Offshore
On Christmas Day

MIAMI (AP) — The U.S. Coast Guard and two of Fidel Castro's patrol boats cooperated to rescue seven Americans from a partially submerged boat aground off Cuba on Christmas.

The Cuban patrol craft came upon the 85-foot Sea Rover, bound for Nicaragua, soon after it ran aground on a coral reef three miles off the northwestern tip of Cuba, survivors said after they were flown to Miami.

David Edwards, 39, of Statesville, N.C., said the Cubans offered their help and when the Americans were unable to free the grounded boat, stood by until the Coast Guard could reach the converted PT boat and the four adults and three children aboard.

"The water was only about waist deep inside the boat so we all scurried up to the deck," Edwards said. The Cubans arrived soon after the travelers radioed a distress call.

"Very Helpful"

"The Cubans were very helpful. Five of them came over asking if they could provide us with any assistance," Edwards said. "They made an attempt to help us get the boat off but failed."

A Coast Guard aircraft reached the Sea Rover a short time later, Edwards said, and dropped a salvage pump "that was too small." A helicopter from St. Petersburg—about 350 miles away—picked up six of the boat's passengers late Friday and the seventh, owner Nikola Severdija of Miami, was taken aboard the Belgian freighter Pontos.

In St. Petersburg Coast Guard Lt. Bill Fisher, pilot of the helicopter, and his crewmen said one of the Cubans helped transfer the Sea Rover's passengers and personal gear to a raft.

The only difficulty, Edwards said, occurred when he attempted to go aboard the raft. Edwards said a Cuban officer asked him to remain aboard but subsequently agreed to let him go.

Severdija, 33, his wife Sylvia and their children—Nick, 10, Dean, 8 and Gladys, 11—were en route to Nicaragua as settlers, the wife said. Mrs. Severdija said they had planned to operate the Sea Rover commercially as a Nicaraguan river boat.

Edwards and his wife, Terri, who have been living temporarily in Miami, had planned to fly back to the United States.

Soviets Condemned for Plan To Execute 2 Convicted Jews

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Soviet authorities to let denunciations against the Soviet Union reverberated around the world today because of death sentences handed down in Leningrad against two Jews accused of plotting to hijack a Soviet jetliner.

Throughout Israel, Jews demonstrated revulsion at the trial and at Moscow's refusal to let Soviet Jews emigrate to Israel.

Schoolchildren in Tel Aviv chanted "let my people go" before the Finnish Embassy, which handles Soviet affairs in Israel. Pupils in Haifa asked in a telegram to the White House that President Nixon intervene. The southern city of Eilat cabled Mavor Sam Yortv of Los Angeles, Eilat's sister city, asking support for the condemned men.

Even Rakah, the pro-Moscow Communist party of Israel, asked that the death sentences be modified. But it sent a letter to Soviet President Nikoia Podgorny condemning an "anti-Soviet propaganda campaign" it said was being waged in Israel.

Only Crime
Premier Golda Meir told the Knesset, Israel's parliament, that the defendants' only crime was that "they dared approach intervene with the Kremlin to free the two defendants sentenced to death and the eight other Jews and one Gentile tried with them.

Edward Kuznetsov and Mark Dymshits, who told the Leningrad court he had planned the escape to Finland for two years, were sentenced on Thursday to death by firing squads. Sentences for the others were from 4 to 15 years in labor camps.

The defendants have a week to appeal the convictions.

"Kangaroo Court"

In Washington, about 200 demonstrators burned a replica of the Soviet flag and chanted "Let my people go" and "Stop the kangaroo court now!" two blocks from the Soviet Embassy. An 11-man delegation was turned away at the embassy when it asked to express "our great concern and agony" over the trial.

In New York, the women's Zionist organization Hadassah urged in a statement that the Russian Federation Supreme Court "let these people go" and the Soviet government not to "add to the list of martyrs by yet another cynical miscarriage of justice."

Seymour Graubard, national chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, messaged the Soviet ambassador to the United States, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, for permission to file a brief with the high court in their behalf.

The World Jewish Congress called the death sentences "incredibly harsh and repugnant" or Korean. The North Koreans said in London that an international Jewish delegation forces part of "the U.S. imperialist aggressor forces," operational under U.S. command.

North Korea Charges U.S. With Attacks

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea charged that the United States sent a number of armed ships, including a spy ship, into North Korean waters today. The North Koreans said they "dealt a decisive counter blow at the intruders."

The Korean Central News Agency also said the United States sent warplanes to the spot and fired more than 50 large shells at North Korean patrol boats. The broadcast said nothing about casualties or damage.

The Pentagon in Washington said "there were no United States forces involved in such an incident."

The North Korean broadcast did not say how many ships or planes allegedly were involved, or whether they were American, Korean, or Chinese. The North Koreans said in London that an international Jewish delegation forces part of "the U.S. imperialist aggressor forces," operational under U.S. command.

Postwar Wealth A Myth, U.S. Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The so-called peace dividend, the billions of dollars the Nixon administration hoped could be channeled back into health and education programs when the Vietnam war wound down, has proved to be a myth in a wave of inflation.

There is no peace dividend, says Robert C. Moot, the Pentagon's comptroller. Inflation and pay raises have eaten most of it.

Moot said that at its peak in 1968 the Vietnam war was costing the Pentagon an added $20 billion a year, but by the end of the current fiscal year the figure will have been sliced to about $10 billion.

Even without a peace dividend, it would seem that defense spending could be reduced as the war comes to a close, and the men and the machines come home.

But that is not to be. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has already let it be known Pentagon spending will go up next year for the first time in three years.

Savings Disappear
In an interview, Moot offered an explanation for where the expected savings disappeared and why defense spending is heading up instead of down.

Over the past two years, some savings have already been plowed back into the economy, he says. This is the $6.2 billion resulting from the cut in the 1968 Pentagon budget of $78 billion to $71.8 billion in the current fiscal year.

Pay raises for military and civilian workers in the Defense Department make up another $4.6 billion of the $10 billion drop in war costs.

Piled on top of this was a $300 million boost in military retirement pay.

With inflation driving up costs, Moot explains, the Pentagon as well as all other federal agencies, are paying more for the same goods and services purchased two years ago.

Trimmed Manpower
To keep spending to what Laird says is the "rock-bottom" level and at the same time finance modernization programs, he has trimmed military and civilian manpower rolls. The size of the armed forces has shrunk from 3.5 million when the Nixon administration took office to about 2.9 million today and will drop further to perhaps below 2.5 million.

Still, the pay raises, combined with the impact of inflation, will force a reversal in the downward trend of the defense budget next year, Moot says.

When the President submits his new budget to Congress early next year, the Pentagon's share is expected to increase about $2 billion.

Moot says the emphasis in the new budget will be on more money for research and development to counter Soviet increases in this field, more money for modernization—new ships and planes—delayed by the war and to help offset the manpower cuts in the military services. There will also be more money for foreign military aid to carry out the Nixon doctrine of helping America's allies do their own fighting.

3 Weeks as Captive

West German Freed

FRANKFURT (AP) — Honorary West German Consul Eugen Beihl headed for a reunion with his family today after recounting to his countrymen the story of the three weeks he spent as a hostage of Basque kidnapers in Spain.

The West German air force assigned him a plane for a flight from Frankfurt to Biarritz in Spain.

Beihl, 59, said he was startled when the door opened Thursday and three men entered wearing masks and armed with pistols. They gave him special glasses to block his vision, the 59-year-old German said, and told him "I would be freed in half or three-quarters of an hour. I didn't want to believe it because they had told me so often before that I would be freed. I didn't believe it until I was taken out of the house and driven away."

He said he protested when his captors gave him sharply worded orders, telling them: "I have suffered enough. I don't need any more threats."

Five or six of the kidnapers accompanied him to the transfer point, where correspondent Albert Gaum and cameraman Baldur Freck waited with a limousine.

A ZDF sound engineer, Andre Chambrun, and assistant cameraman Peter Kruse were left behind "as a form of security," Beihl said, and Gaum drove to Wiesbaden. When their arrival was announced, Chambrun and Kruse were released.

Served Purpose

Then he plans to go back to San Sebastian, Spain, where he was kidnapped Dec. 1 by the Basque separatist organization ETA. The kidnapers warned that he would meet the same fate as 16 Basques tried for murder and terrorism in the Spanish city of Burgos but released him before the verdict was announced and said his abduction had served its purpose. "At least for the moment."

At the Frankfurt airport Beihl avoided newsmen by riding under police escort to the twin-engine aircraft in an airport bus for dignitaries.

Mrs. Beihl said in San Sebastian that she could not sleep during the night in anticipation of the reunion.

"I'm so very excited, happily excited, over the release of my husband," she said. "I tried hard to sleep, but all I could do was to close my eyes for a few minutes. I'm really eager to see and embrace him."

"Christmas day this year was the happiest one in my life, and I'll never be able to forget it no matter how long I live."

Beihl was freed on Christmas Eve after officials of ZDF, a West German television network, negotiated with the ETA and sent two employees to an undisclosed location to pick him up.

Wearing an open-collared shirt and looking very tired, Beihl told in a ZDF interview Friday night of a harrowing experience culminated by a Christmas Eve filled with depression because he wouldn't be with his wife and daughter for Christmas.

"I found myself... in a very terrible emotional state," he said. "It was the first time since the war that I could not count on sharing this day with my family."

Franco to Intervene?

Clemency Likely

In Basque Cases

MADRID (AP) — Spain normally takes about six hours to await the verdicts in the trial of 16 Basque separatists today, as indications mounted that there are any death sentences. Gen. Francisco Franco will commute them.

The Basques were tried by a military court in the city of Burgos on charges ranging from illegal association to murder. The prosecution has asked the death penalty for six of the defendants and prison terms totaling more than 700 years for all 16.

The defense attorneys were recalled to Burgos today to read the court record, a process that normally takes about six hours and is followed by an announcement of verdicts and sentences. The court makes the announcement to the defense lawyers, however, and it is up to them to make it public.

Because of snow-blocked roads from Bilbao, only five of the 16 attorneys had reached Burgos by noon. The other 11 were expected to arrive later in the day, and court officials said they would wait "as long as necessary."

The likelihood of clemency increased Wednesday when the Basque terrorist organization ETA released Eugen Beihl, the honorary West German consul it had kidnapped in San Sebastian on Dec. 1. The ETA had warned that Beihl would meet the same fate as the Basque defendants but said it was releasing him because his abduction had served its purpose, "at least for the moment."

The trial and the expectation of death sentences set off anti-government demonstrations, brought pleas for leniency from world leaders including Pope Paul VI, and brought on the worst crisis the Franco government had faced since the end of the Spanish civil war in 1939.

The government dealt with the mounting tension by declaring a three-month state of emergency in the Basque province of Guipuzcoa, decreeing an emergency measure allowing police to hold arrested persons for up to six months with no charges, and organizing pro-Franco demonstrations. Nearly 300 persons have been arrested since the trial began.

Special Christmas Privileges Claimed for POWs

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. congressman said today that North Vietnamese officials had told him American prisoners of war are allowed to participate in sports and were given special privileges this Christmas season.

Rep. G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery, D-Miss., told a news conference that he met two days this week with high-ranking officials of the North Vietnamese embassy in Vientiane, Laos, including the charge d'affaires.

The congressman talked with newsmen as he wound up a week-long tour of Southeast Asia.

Montgomery, a member of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, said he went to Vientiane to meet with the North Vietnamese "as a private citizen" but that they accepted him as a government official. He did not say whether he will make an official report on his trip when he gets back to Washington.

"Probably the most significant thing that came out of my meetings for two days is that they did meet with an American government official, and the highest ranking official they've ever met in that embassy."

"Somewhat of a Hawk"

Montgomery said, "This is significant in that I generally support President Nixon's policy in Southeast Asia and I am generally classified somewhat as a hawk."

He said he gave the North Vietnamese three concrete proposals:

1. That he be given any information on American prisoners of war that has not been released in Paris.

2. That he be admitted to Hanoi and be allowed to meet with American prisoners.

3. That two to six Americans be released in his custody and flown to Vientiane.

"I did not get a flat answer that I could not go to Hanoi to meet with the prisoners," Montgomery said. "I was given the answer on my third request —that Americans be released—that this would be referred to Hanoi. On my request for information on the 1,560 men classified as missing, I was told that would be referred to Hanoi."

Cards, Letters

TOKYO, Japan (AP) — North Vietnamese officials on Christmas Eve entrusted a visiting American delegation in Hanoi with 319 letters and 330 Christmas cards from captured U.S. pilots to their families, Radio Hanoi reported today.

The three Americans belonged to a pacifist group, known as the New Mobilization Committee

Montgomery said the North Vietnamese told him that "the prisoners are being treated very well. They strictly denied that Americans died from malnutrition—the 20 they had reported dead in North Vietnam."

"They said they died of natural disease, that North Vietnam had some of the greatest surgical procedure. I took notes, and they said, and I'm reading from the notes, that they died of natural disease. They said they died of diseases that were incurable and could not be treated."

"Of course, I probably should have followed up and ask if they were wounds."

No major military action was reported across South Vietnam today.

In Cambodia, a military spokesman said political infighting is increasing between the North Vietnamese and the Red Khmer, the Cambodian equivalent of the Viet Cong. Lt. Col. Am Rong said in Phnom Penh that 30 Cambodians who had been fighting with the Communists defected to the government side on Christmas Day and that more than 100 guerrillas had quit the Red Khmers in southern Cambodia in the past week.

He also said a number of Cambodian guerrillas had surrendered during the past month in the Parrot's Beak section of Cambodia, but he gave no figures.

In South Vietnam, a 24-hour cease-fire ended Friday night but a 72-hour Viet Cong truce was scheduled to run until 1 a.m. Sunday, Saigon time.

The U.S. Command reported 26 "enemy-initiated incidents" against American forces during the 24-hour allied Christmas cease-fire, with four U.S. troops wounded. Last year there were 35 incidents against U.S. troops during the allied cease-fire, and three Americans were wounded.

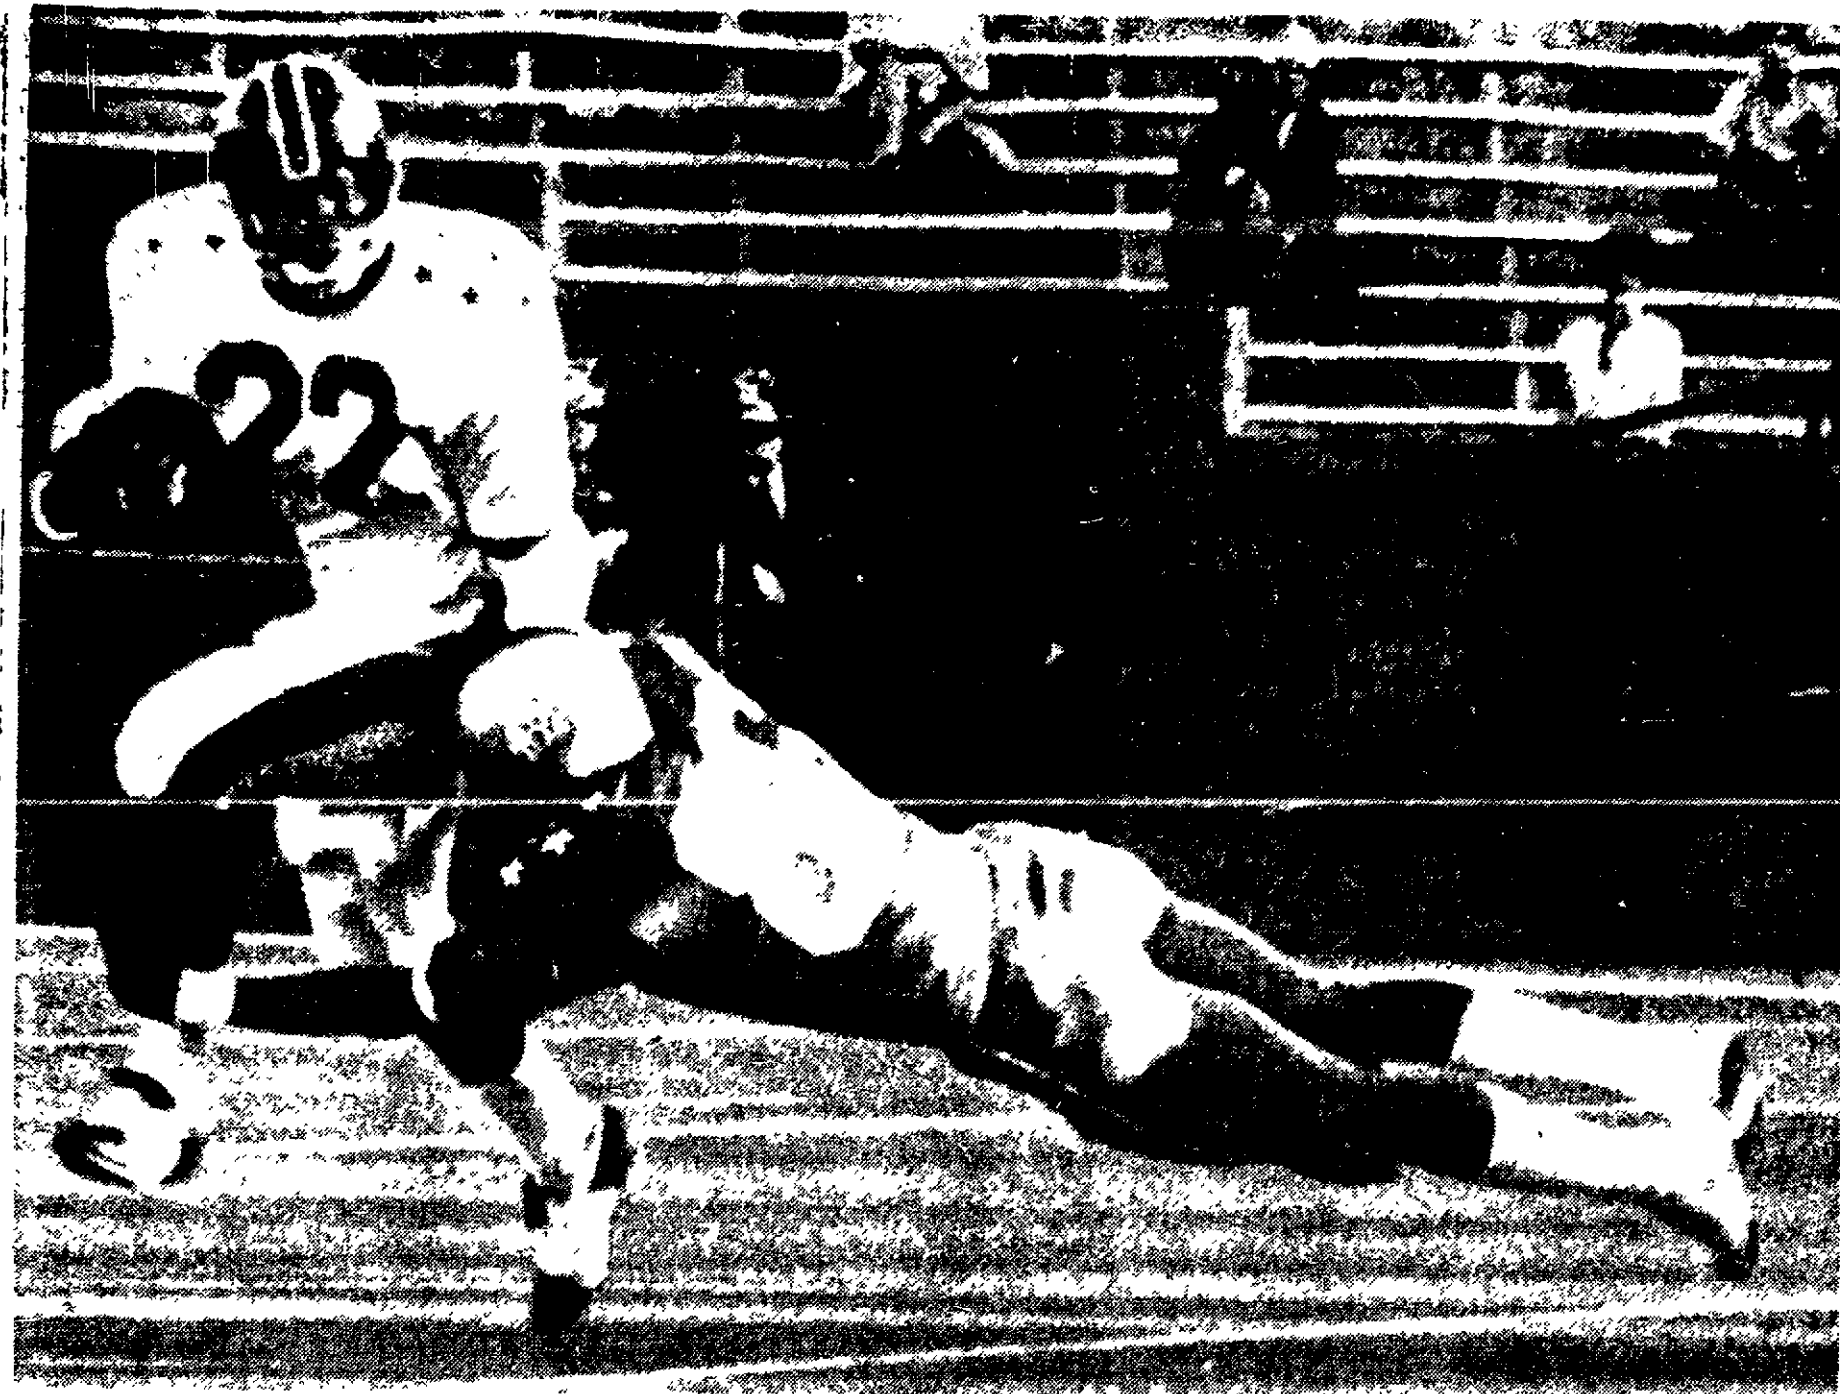

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 52 incidents against its forces during the truce, compared with 55 a year ago. In a revised casualty summary, headquarters said 13 Vietnamese were killed and 45 were wounded, compared with 14 killed and 23 wounded a year ago.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Lynn Dickey, with flashy white shoes and long hair, gives the appearance of a Joe Namath with healthy knees.
And he's also got an arm of gold.
"We hit them up the middle with passes," said the Kansas State quarterback after leading the North to a 28-7 decision over the South in the Christmas Day Shrine All-Star collegiate football game.
"Their linebackers didn't seem to react. So, we kept firing."
The handsome 6-foot-4 Dickey hit 14 of 27 passes for 180 yards and was named the game's most valuable player.
It was the North's fifth straight success in the event.
"These are good athletes, all of them," said Dickey. "But, I think it was a case of the North having a little edge in major college talent."

Vikings, 49ers Clash Sunday

NFL Teams Start Playoffs Today

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Four National Football League teams spent a peaceful afternoon today, lounging in front of television sets to watch four others bang heads as the conference playoffs got underway.

But the resting ends Sunday for the Miami Dolphins and Oakland Raiders, set to clash in an American Conference showdown on the West Coast, and the Minnesota Vikings and San Francisco 49ers, who'll be going against each other in a National Conference game at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

In today's games, Cincinnati played at Baltimore and Detroit was at Dallas as the NFL's Super Bowl countdown began. Conference championship games are scheduled for Jan. 3 with the winners advancing to the Jan. 17 Super Bowl at Miami.

The Dolphins, enjoying their first taste of post-season competition, would like nothing better than to be the host team for that Jan. 17 date in Miami. But to accomplish that, Miami will have to get past Oakland and its late-game lightning.

The Raiders strung together a streak of hairbreadth finishes to capture the Western Division crown, most of them accomplished with the aging but remarkably accurate toe of George Blanda in the middle of the heroes.

But the Dolphins figure they have a kicking match for Blanda in stumpish Gary Yepremian, the 5-foot-8 native of Cyprus who kicked 22 field goals this season and set a Miami club record with 97 points.

Larry Csonka, No. 2 rusher in the American Conference, gives Miami a power runner to balance the passing of quarterback Bob Griese. Csonka gained 874 yards—13 more than Oakland's Hewitt Dixon, who handles the bulk of the Raider ground game when Daryle Lamonica isn't throwing.

Frigid weather—a normal climate for this time of year—was expected in Minnesota for the Vikings' clash with San Francisco. Brodie's top receiver is Gene Washington, whose 53 catches

The 49ers have the top quarterback in the National Conference in veteran John Brodie, whose 24 touchdown passes were the best total in the NFL.

Set Four Marks

Mike Adamle Wins Big 10 MVP Award

CHICAGO (AP) — Northwestern fullback Mike Adamle has been named the Big Ten's most valuable player in the conference and will receive its Silver Football award.

Adamle, who is only 5-9 and 190 pounds, set four conference and six school records in leading Northwestern to a 6-1 record and a tie for second place in the Big Ten last season.

And yet, as a high school player in Kent, Ohio, Adamle received only one full scholarship offer. That was from Northwestern.

The Tribune announced Friday that Adamle was the runaway winner in the most valuable player vote. The runnerup was Ohio State middle guard Jim Stullwagon.

Voting in the contest were the conference coaches, 10 veteran officials, Big Ten Commission Bill Reed and two Tribune sports writers. The poll has been conducted with conference approval since 1924.

Adamle joins his coach, Alex Agase, as a MVP winner. Agase won the honor in 1946 as a lineman at Illinois.

Adamle's greatest accomplishment was rushing for 1,053 yards in Big Ten competition in 1970. This topped the mark of 1,017 set by Ron Johnson of Michigan in 1968.

Other conference records he set were most rushes in a season, 250; most rushes in a game, 48 against Minnesota; and average rushes per game, 35.7.

Adamle also holds all of Northwestern's marks for ground gaining for a game, season and career.

well-rested Bucks to Test San Francisco

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks will be well rested when they attempt to beat the San Francisco Warriors tonight for the third time this season, but Coach Larry Costello does not expect a particularly easy time in the National Basketball Association encounter.

Milwaukee has scored 119-110 and 127-102 triumphs over San Francisco this season, and the Bucks have had a four day rest since easily beating the Los Angeles Lakers Monday.

"It'll be a tough game," Costello insisted, "because 'Purse' has everything... scoring power, strong rebounding, good all-around personnel."

The Bucks will be idle again Sunday, but then play their first NBA game of the season in Monday night against the Cincinnati Royals.

UW Hockey Team To Defend Title At Invitational

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The University of Wisconsin hockey team will defend its St. Louis Invitational championship in the meet which gets underway Sunday.

The Badgers will play Princeton and Boston College will face St. Louis in matches Sunday, and the winners will meet for the championship Monday night.

Wisconsin, which has a 6-6-1 record this year, beat Michigan and Brown to win last year's tournament.

Woody Has 'Mixed Emotions' About No-Repeat Regulation

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — You would think Woody Hayes would be a staunch opponent of the Big Ten's no repeat rule to the Rose Bowl. The Ohio State football coach isn't.

"I have mixed emotions about it," Hayes said of the rule that prohibits a Big Ten champion from making two straight trips to the Rose Bowl.

"Coming out here causes a definite disruption of classwork. Ask your dean," Hayes said before an Ohio State practice today.

Ohio State and Stanford resumed practice today after both squads took Christmas off. The Buckeyes had a couple of parties at their hotel; Stanford players spent the holidays in private homes of parents and friends.

Hayes said Ohio State's game plan—it is expected to emphasize a running attack—has been completed. The Bucks went through heavy hitting in the single practice at East Los Angeles College.

Stanford Coach John Ralston was busy installing a game plan, obviously featuring Jim Plunkett's passing, and pondering the Ohio State scouting report of balance, too," he said.

The Pacific-8 permits its champion to go Rose Bowling. Long Beach State College.

The Buckeyes will spend Sunday at Marineland of the Pacific while Stanford devotes its time to another workout.

Skiing Termed Excellent

Conditions Pleasing for Outdoor Sports

The holiday weekend in Wisconsin shaped up as a pleasing one for skiers and snowmobilers.

The state has a snow cover that ranges from fair to excellent, although the Department of Natural Resources warned

Mississippi River ice is mostly unsafe, while frozen marshes and open creeks must also be watched. Some walleyes are being taken from the Mississippi and fishing on inland lakes

California Horses May Use Drug

Old Law Permits Controlled Use Of Butazolidin

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — A number of horses may be drugged when they help open Santa Anita's 34th season of thoroughbred racing today.

And it will be legal because the day coincides with effectiveness of California horse racing board Rules 1887 and 1888.

California is the third and largest state to permit controlled use of Butazolidin, the same drug that caused the Kentucky Derby uproar of 1968, by parimutuel racing.

Butazolidin, described as neither a stimulant nor a depressant, has been used with success in Colorado and Nebraska racing.

Dr. Alan H. Edmondson, official track veterinarian at Santa Anita, refers to Butazolidin as "a super aspirin" which "simply eases various types of arthritic aches and pains."

"There have been other more dangerous and expensive medications in use before now."

Edmondson said probably more than 50 per cent of the horses will use the drug at first.

"But I think the initial enthusiasm for usage will cool down in a short time. Eventually I think about one-third of the horses will be using Butazolidin."

Horses trained with Butazolidin in the past but were not allowed to race while under treatment. Edmondson said the new program will be better because "consistency of usage will be carefully controlled. Horses cannot run hot and cold."

Names of horses given Butazolidin treatment will not be made public, he said, but "there will be a strict chain of responsibility."

"The trainer must register a Butazolidin horse and certify he is raceably sound before he is allowed to use the drug. The veterinarian who treats the stableman and snowmobile can see that the drug is administered at the proper time and in the proper amount."

"If a horse does not show the proper amount of Butazolidin in his post-race test, the trainer will be subject to penalties just as if a drug showed when it was included," Milwaukee 4 inches, Madison 9, Lone Rock 8, La guess he does have a legitimate protest. I did, too."

Cousy protested because Cleveland was permitted a field goal after the horn sounded.

Tom Van Arsdale and Norm Van Lier each scored 23 points to pace the Royals while Dave Sorenson led Cleveland with 20.

Suns Outlast Atlanta
Phoenix took an early 17-point lead but had to stave off a late Atlanta rally to beat the Hawks.

The Hawks pulled within one point late in the third quarter.

Lou Hudson, the game's leading scorer with 33 points, led the Hawks rally. Rookie Pete Maravich scored 28 points for the Hawks while Dick Van Arsdale was the high Sun scorer with 32.

Baltimore's victory over Chicago came despite a 42-point performance by the Bulls' Bob Love. The Bulls, paced by Earl Monroe's 25 points and Wes Unseld's 22 rebounds, jumped to a 68-42 halftime lead and waltzed the rest of the way. Love canned 16 of 28 from the floor and was 10-for-11 at the free throw line.

Willis Reed returned from a three-game absence occasioned by the flu and scored 20 points as the Knicks whipped Buffalo.

Two crucial free throws in the waning minutes by Hal Greer, who wound up with 28 points, helped Philadelphia outlast Detroit. Dave Bing was Detroit's top scorer, with 28 points.

Chamberlain sat out the first 10 minutes of the game because he missed Coach Joe Mullaney's team discussion at Friday's practice. The victory snapped a two-game Lakers' losing streak.

Mullaney said he told his players they would be benched for not producing. He said Chamberlain was not reprimanded but did not start because "I did not feel it right to wilt to start him tonight, then pull him out, inasmuch as I had not had a chance to explain."

Chamberlain and Mullaney met for a long talk before the game and Wilt was unable to participate in pregame warm-ups.

"It was not his fault," Mullaney said of Chamberlain's missing the practice. He said Wilt was out of town and missed an airline connection because of bad weather.

The Zephyrs go into the game on the wings of an 87-71 upset triumph over Green Bay Pre-montre. They have a 2-6 overall record while the Dons are 3-4.

In the only other weekend games involving Fox Valley Catholic Conference teams, Fond du Lac Springs meets Racine St. Catherine and Manitowoc Roncalli faces Whitefish Bay Dominican Sunday night in the first round of Roncalli's holiday tournament. Finals are scheduled Monday.

A horn is a horn is a horn. Or is it?
Friday night's Cleveland-Cincinnati game in the National Basketball Association was played under protest because the 24-second clock signal—a horn-sounded different, at least to Cavalier Coach Bill Fitch, than most other 24-second clocks.
Cincinnati Coach Bob Cousy, whose Royals won 117-100, also filed a protest because the referees, who apparently didn't recognize the sound made by the 24-second timing device in Cincinnati, let Cleveland continue with the ball after the signal.
Fitch said the signal for the 24-second clock was the same as the scoreboard signal and that's an NBA rule violation.
Goes to Rule Book
"If the rule book means anything, our protest is right," the Cav coach, whose expansion team has a 3-37 record, said.
In the other Christmas day NBA games, Phoenix downed Atlanta 127-115 in a nationally televised contest; Baltimore blasted Chicago 128-112; New York defeated Buffalo 115-102. Philadelphia won its sixth straight with a 105-100 conquest of Detroit and Los Angeles trimmed Boston 123-113.
In the American Basketball Association it was Memphis 107, Utah 102; Virginia 145, Texas 131 and Pittsburgh 126, Carolina 121.
Cousy didn't think much of Fitch's protest. "If I were Cleveland, I wouldn't have the guts to protest," he said. "But I

Ullman's two goals were in a losing cause, however. The North Stars snapped Toronto's seven-game winning streak 6-3 with three goals in the last period.

The Boston Bruins whipped the Pittsburgh Penguins 8-4 for their 10th straight victory in the only other NHL game scheduled. The Bruins thus regained sole possession of first place in the East Division over the idle New York Rangers.

Ullman, born in Provost, Alta., on Dec. 26, 1935, helped tie the score for Toronto at 3-3 before the North Stars went ahead for good on Danny Grant's second goal after five minutes of the third period.

Last Two Goals

Barry Gibbs and Tom Reed added Minnesota's last two goals later in the third period.

Phil Esposito, Johnny Bucyk and Don Marcotte each scored two goals for Boston as the Bruins rallied to overcome a two-goal deficit and extend their unbeaten streak to 11.

Esposito, the NHL leading scorer, added an assist to his two goals and now has 68 points in 34 games.

Greg Polis scored twice for Pittsburgh in the last period after Andy Bathgate and Dean Prentice had given the Penguins a 2-0 lead in the first five minutes.

Griese Likes to 'Unbalance' Signals to Force Offside

MIAMI (AP) — Bob Griese is master of the "no-play offense."

The Miami Dolphins' quarterback uses the bit of signal-calling trickery to pull opponents off-side.

Usually it's on a third down situation with one yard to go. Sometimes it's even on fourth down.

"I simply unbalance my cadence and it fouls them up," said the ex-Purdue star today. "We are set to run a play we hope will earn the first down... but if the other side will hand it to us free, that's even surer."

Former Pack Star, Taylor, Has Surgery

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Former star Green Bay Packer fullback Jimmy Taylor is expected to be hospitalized for a week or 10 days following a gall bladder operation.

Officials at Southern Baptist Hospital said he was doing "very well" following the surgery Thursday, which he said was not done on an emergency basis.

KAUKAUNA — Mikes Bar No. 2 ran its National League leading record to 24-3 Wednesday night in Women's Volleyball play by sweeping three games from Hietpas Motors.

Also scoring three wins were Bob and Mary's J. J. Corral and Rexall Drugs. Florida Communities won two from Rich and Sally's and Balza DX took two from Judy's Rose Hill.

Football and the Single Girl Elinor Picks Colts, Cowboys, Vikings, Raiders

BY ELINOR KAINE

Baltimore Colts 27 - Cincinnati Bengals 13

Experience in Big Games is a big advantage for Colts, who've been there before. Come to think of it, they've been close so many times before previous Baltimore deserves the title of NFL Bridesmaid, not Dallas. Colts haven't won since 1959.

Paul Brown will undoubtedly borrow from Weeb's book — and run left, at Roy Hilton and Ted Hendricks. If you remember Super Bowl III, Weeb ran right at Braase and Shinnick, retiring both. But the rest of Baltimore's defense should rise to quash the Bengals. I would like to see retiring Jimmy Orr win a squeaker in the final seconds with one of those corner of the end-zone specialty catches.

Dallas Cowboys 42 - Detroit Lions 27

Cowboys haven't beaten anybody much this year, but they can upset the Lions with defense and Bob Hayes. Detroit's secret weapon is tight end Charles Sanders, but Dallas has important Cornell Green playing against Sanders. Because both teams can run, the passing becomes vital, which leaves Hayes to make the vital points. They say Dallas can't win big ones, but those were against Cleveland and Green Bay. This is Detroit.

Minnesota Vikings 16 - San Francisco 49ers 14

The 49ers have been winning but, except for Oakland, they've been giving up a lot of points. They aren't going to win unless they score early, and will need help...like a long Bruce Taylor runback. On a frozen field those big slow Vikings backs can grind it out. Brodie was thrown only eight times this year, but I'm afraid Alan Page may spoil John's season. And it hurts more to be flattened on frozen ground.

Oakland Raiders 35 - Miami Dolphins 24

The Dolphins have beaten Oakland before (with Warfield beating Willie Brown on two bombs), and they believe they can repeat. The Raiders have felt all season long they were destined to win the Super Bowl, but they have certainly been fooling around on their road to destiny. This game is the toughest one for the Raiders; next week, if they last that long, will be easier.

New Policy Wrecking City College of N.Y.

Admission of Unprepared High School Graduates Results in Impossible Situation

NEW YORK — Utterly baffled by the profundities of first-year history at City College of New York (CCNY), a newly enrolled freshman this fall told his professor he simply could not make sense out of the textbook "because too many words are just too long."

Evans

Nowak

Such a heart-rending incident could not have occurred in years past. Such a student would have been academically ineligible for CCNY, the tuition-free college ranking among the nation's best liberal arts schools. Under the new open-admissions policy, however, anybody in the city with a high school diploma can enter City University of New York (CUNY), a sprawling educational complex of junior and senior colleges (including CCNY) and graduate schools.

Although CUNY's administrators deny it, faculty members complain the incident of the bewildered freshman is commonplace. Thus, the preliminary estimate of critical faculty members is that the quality of instruction is declining and will continue to decline. "To be perfectly frank," history Prof. Howard Adelson told us, "there are indications that this college is finished as a learned institution."

Result of Threat

The avowed reason for open admissions is that a tax-supported institution must provide service for all the city's residents, regardless of qualification. The harshly practical reality, however, is that student radicals at CUNY would have blown the lid off the school if the policy had not been adopted. Moreover, some administrators privately praise the policy for an entirely different reason: taking slum youth off the street.

Thus, two grave questions of public policy are raised at CUNY with applications across the country: Is the enormous expense of higher education the best way to care for semiliterate high school graduates who might otherwise drift into crime? And is the high price of drastically lowered academic standards really necessary to achieve this goal?

The financial cost is staggering. The burden of CUNY's 15,000 extra students under open admissions adds another $20 million to the $320 million annual budget without even providing space for the enlarged enrollment. Soon, the annual cost of CUNY will be $1 billion, to be borne by a society reaching the upper limits of its tax burdens.

But the academic cost is even more disturbing. CUNY administrators stress that unqualified freshmen are given remedial courses in reading and arithmetic. The flaw in the program is that the student receiving remedial reading can also take regular courses in history, science, or economics, drastically impairing the level of instruction.

Standards Changing

Certainly, the end is near for CCNY as an "elitist" institution where sons and daughters of the poor could obtain a free education of Ivy League caliber. "I think the conception of academic standards is going to change," CUNY deputy chancellor Seymour Hyman told us.

Indeed, the concept is changing radically right now. The Negro or Puerto Rican youth, given a diploma in New York City high schools without regard to ability to read or write, will not be flunked out automatically at CUNY. An informal arrangement proposes that new students not be flunked out until after 1½ years, giving everybody a two-year free ride. But worried faculty members fear that the two years may stretch to four, and the CUNY degree will become as meaningless as a New York City high school diploma. Hence, the formulation of classics Prof. Louis Heller: "Open enrollments — a political device for conferring a college degree without giving a college education."

Just how many faculty members agree with Heller is impossible to determine. Critical professors described for us a climate of fear, based on actual death threats to faculty members, professors beaten up in their classrooms in the violent spring of 1969, and a rising tide of student power giving students influence over the professional futures of the faculty. Thus, silence is understandable.

But such absence of criticism cannot deflect national academic attention from what is happening at CUNY and particularly at CCNY. In the months and years ahead the cost to higher education of egalitarianism run wild may be incalculable.

Sports Show Centers on Soccer Game

BY TV SCOUT

4-5:30 Channels 11-9 — Wide World of Sports goes to Brazil for the World Cup Soccer Championships with Brazil taking on Italy. Jim McKay reports.

6:30-7:30 Channel 5 — Lorne Greene tries a little Shakespeare to help the bear get a cookie from the star of the Andy Williams Show, and Ella Fitzgerald tries "A Tisket, A Tasket," but of course, none of it works. Other guests: The Grass Roots and Chubby Checker, who reintroduces The Twist.

6:30-7:30 Channels 2-7 — Mission: Impossible repeats its season premiere with Robert Conrad as a hired killer who likes to keep his jobs spontaneous. He is hired for an assassination. But who? And Where? And who is Scorpio, the man who hired him?

7:30-8 Channels 2-7 — Craig Stevens shows up on My Three Sons as Barbara's (Beverly Garland) old boy friend. Good-natured Steve (Fred MacMurray) invites the man to dinner and the whole family is curious, except Barbara, who is very nervous.

7:30-8 Channel 5 — Adam-12 is concerned with a robbery attempt that has left a policeman wounded and which has an angry victim whose description of the suspects varies greatly from the wounded policeman's description. There is also the matter of a missing boy who has drugs in his possession.

8-8:30 Channels 2-7 — There's more of a cliché plot than usual on Arnie but some good dialogue will help you overlook that fact. Seems Arnie raves so much about his secretary and her good coffee and her impeccable taste, that Arnie's wife becomes jealous. And of course, when she visits his office, she sees a stacked young thing at the secretary's desk, instead of comfortably plump Elaine Shore. 'REPEAT'

8:30-9:30 Channels 2-7 — The Mary Tyler Moore Show repeats one of its funniest episodes. Mary, substituting for flu-ridden Ted Baxter, does an interview with a best-selling author who invites her to dinner. Then she learns a terrible fact about herself: she's a "height snob." The man, beautifully played by Hamid Hamilton Camp (as he now bills himself), is a good deal shorter than Mary. 'REPEAT'

Experiment in Knowing Confrontation Erases Hostilities in Miami

MIAMI (AP) — The federal government is betting $171,000 that the tarnished relationship between Miami policemen and blacks, caused by suspicion and hostile attitudes, can be brightened.

In an experiment that is being watched nationally as a potential model for other cities, representatives from both sides now meet face to face to unload their hangups.

They spend eight hours a day arguing, criticizing each other, joking and saying things they would normally suppress.

"I expect some attitudes will be changed," said Joseph Edwards, a 43-year-old Negro who directed the Police-Community Interaction Project.

"Behaviour may also be changed, both on the parts of the residents and the police," said Edwards. "Some people are going to leave this program without their attitudes or behaviour being changed at all—but at least they may be more aware."

The federally financed project will bring together 360 policemen and 360 residents of Miami's black Liberty City area in a series of two week "workshops" at the New Covenant Presbyterian Church.

The residents are being selected by Edwards' nine-man team and receive $20 a day for participating.

Reactions of the 61 persons who have just completed the first course were mixed.

"I don't feel any different now than I did when I came," said a young white officer. "I could have spent the time better on the street. I got to understand black people through my police work and this session hasn't done much for me."

"I admit I'm prejudiced," said a police sergeant. "I don't need two weeks of this to know that. It's a waste of time."

"There are a lot of things I'll do voluntarily now," said a black nurse's aide. "Where I wouldn't call the station and blurt out some information before, I'll call one of these officers I've gotten to know and give him confidential information now."

"I don't feel any closer to some of the officers because they wouldn't open themselves up," said an 18-year-old pregnant mother of two children.

"But I got to know most of the policemen, and I understand their problems. I think I would help the police now."

Blacks have filed numerous law suits against individual policemen and the Miami police department in the past, alleging harassment, police abuse and violation of their civil and constitutional rights.

Computer Aids State in Highway Safety Efforts

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The computer has been harnessed for service in the state's continued highway safety campaign.

Traffic arrest records, now available in more manageable form with the compulsory use of a uniform citation and complaint form a year and a half ago, are being fed into a computer to provide a coded accident severity map that will be used by county traffic enforcement agencies for the most efficient allocation of enforcement manpower.

The statistics now are available for all counties, but the mapping is beginning on a pilot project basis and now involves Brown, Barron and Manitowoc counties.

When the computerized mapping system is perfected, the service will be extended to each county, according to Dean Van Gorden, highway safety coordinator in the state executive office.

"Wisconsin is fortunate that the legislature has made available the essential tools to produce this selective enforcement data, enabling police administrators to manage traffic law enforcement agencies as a business," Van Gorden commented.

Christmas Morning Burglar Takes Gifts , From Disabled Auto

ONEIDA — The Christmas of one rural Outagamie County family was dulled slightly early Thursday morning by a burglar who stole $115 worth of gifts from a disabled car.

Thomas Manders, route 2, West De Pere, sought help about 4 a.m. when his automobile became stuck in a ditch off County Trunk U, near the Fish Creek Road in the Town of Oneida.

When he returned to the car, he noticed a window flap smashed and the presents — games, clothing, liquor and other items — gone from the vehicle. The burglar also made off with a $150 tape player, and 18 tapes, valued at $4 apiece.

7 Americans Run Aground, Aided by Cuba

Boat Hits Reef
3 Miles Offshore
On Christmas Day

MIAMI (AP) — The U.S. Coast Guard and two of Fidel Castro's patrol boats cooperated to rescue seven Americans from a partially submerged boat aground off Cuba on Christmas.

The Cuban patrol craft came upon the 85-foot Sea Rover, bound for Nicaragua, soon after it ran aground on a coral reef three miles off the northwestern tip of Cuba, survivors said after they were flown to Miami.

David Edwards, 30, of Statesville, N.C., said the Cubans offered their help and when the Americans were unable to free the grounded boat, stood by until the Coast Guard could reach the converted PT boat and the four adults and three children aboard.

"The water was only about waist deep inside the boat so we all scurried up to the deck," Edwards said. The Cubans arrived soon after the travelers radioed a distress call.

"Very Helpful"

"The Cubans were very helpful. Five of them came over asking if they could provide us with any assistance," Edwards said. "They made an attempt to help us get the boat off but failed."

A Coast Guard aircraft reached the Sea Rover a short time later, Edwards said, and dropped a salvage pump "that was too small." A helicopter from St. Petersburg—about 350 miles away—picked up six of the boat's passengers late Friday and the seventh, owner Nikola Severdija of Miami, was taken aboard the Belgian freighter Pontos.

In St. Petersburg Coast Guard Lt. Bill Fisher, pilot of the helicopter, and his crewmen said one of the Cubans helped transfer the Sea Rover's passengers and personal gear to a raft.

The only difficulty, Edwards said, occurred when he attempted to go aboard the raft. Edwards said a Cuban officer asked him to remain aboard but subsequently agreed to let him go.

Severdija, 33, his wife Sylvia and their children—Nick, 10, Dean, 8 and Gladys, 11—were en route to Nicaragua as settlers, the wife said. Mrs. Severdija said they had planned to operate the Sea Rover commercially as a Nicaraguan river boat.

Edwards and his wife, Terri, who have been living temporarily in Miami, had planned to fly back to the United States.

Soviets Condemned for Plan To Execute 2 Convicted Jews

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Soviet authorities to let them go to Israel. The defendant wanted to emigrate not as a protest against the Soviet government, she said, but because of a "national awakening" for the right to join their own people.

Then the Knesset unanimously adopted a resolution calling on "enlightened mankind" to intervene with the Kremlin to free the two defendants sentenced to death and the eight other Jews and one Gentile tried with them.

Edward Kuznetsov and Mark Dymshits, who told the Leningrad court he had planned the escape to Finland for two years, were sentenced on Thursday to death by firing squads. Sentences for the others were from 4 to 15 years in labor camps.

The defendants have a week to appeal the convictions.

"Kangaroo Court"

In Washington, about 200 demonstrators burned a replica of the Soviet flag and chanted "Let my people go!" and "Stop the kangaroo court now!"

Two blocks from the Soviet Embassy, an 11-man delegation was turned away at the embassy when it asked to express "our great concern and agony" over the trial.

In New York, the women's Zionist organization Hadassah urged in a statement that the Russian Federation Supreme Court "let these people go" and the Soviet government not to "add to the list of martyrs by yet another cynical miscarriage of justice."

Seymour Graubard, national chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, messaged the Soviet ambassador to the United States, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, for permission to file a brief with the high court in their behalf.

The World Jewish Congress called the death sentences "incredibly harsh and repugnant" and said in London that an international Jewish delegation was meeting with Vatican officials to enlist the aid of Pope Paul VI.

The North Korean broadcast did not say how many ships or planes allegedly were involved or whether they were American or Korean. The North Koreans consider South Korea's armed forces part of "the U.S. imperialist aggressor forces," operating under U.S. command.

Even Rakah, the pro-Moscow Communist party of Israel, asked that the death sentences be modified. But it sent a letter to Soviet President Nikolai Podgorniy condemning an "anti-Soviet propaganda campaign" it said was being waged in Israel.

Only Crime

Premier Golda Meir told the Knesset, Israel's parliament, that the defendants' only crime was that "they dared approach

North Korea Charges U.S. With Attacks

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea charged that the United States sent a number of armed ships, including a spy ship, into North Korean waters today. The North Koreans said they "dealt a decisive counter blow at the intruders."

The Korean Central News Agency also said the United States sent warplanes to the spot and fired more than 50 large shells at North Korean patrol boats. The broadcast said nothing about casualties or damage.

Postwar Wealth A Myth, U.S. Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The so-called peace dividend, the billions of dollars the Nixon administration hoped could be channeled back into health and education programs when the Vietnam war wound down, has proved to be a myth in a wave of inflation.

There is no peace dividend, says Robert C. Moot, the Pentagon's comptroller. Inflation and pay raises have eaten most of it.

Moot said that at its peak in 1968 the Vietnam war was costing the Pentagon an added $20 billion a year, but by the end of the current fiscal year the figure will have been sliced to about $10 billion.

Even without a peace dividend, it would seem that defense spending could be reduced as the war comes to a close, and the men and the machines come home.

But that is not to be. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has already let it be known Pentagon spending will go up next year for the first time in three years.

Savings Disappear

In an interview, Moot offered an explanation for where the expected savings disappeared and why defense spending is heading up instead of down.

Over the past two years, some savings have already been plowed back into the economy, he says. This is the $6.2 billion resulting from the cut in the 1968 Pentagon budget of $78 billion to $71.8 billion in the current fiscal year.

Pay raises for military and civilian workers in the Defense Department make up another $4.6 billion of the $10 billion drop in war costs.

Piled on top of this was a $300 million boost in military retirement pay.

With inflation driving up costs, Moot explains, the Pentagon as well as all other federal agencies, are paying more for the same goods and services purchased two years ago.

Trimmed Manpower

To keep spending to what Moot says is the "rock-bottom" level and at the same time finance modernization programs, he has trimmed military and civilian manpower rolls. The size of the armed forces has shrunk from 3.5 million when the Nixon administration took office to about 2.9 million today and will drop further to perhaps below 2.5 million.

Still, the pay raises, combined with the impact of inflation, will force a reversal in the downward trend of the defense budget next year, Moot says.

When the President submits his new budget to Congress early next year, the Pentagon's share is expected to increase about $2 billion.

Moot says the emphasis in the new budget will be on more money for research and development to counter Soviet increases in this field, more money for modernization—new ships and planes—delayed by the war and to help offset the manpower cuts in the military services.

There will also be more money for foreign military aid to carry out the Nixon doctrine of helping America's allies do their own fighting.

3 Weeks as Captive

West German Freed

FRANKFURT (AP) — Honorary West German Consul Eugen Beihl headed for a reunion with his family today after recounting to his countrymen the story of the three weeks he spent as a hostage of Basque kidnapers in Spain.

The West German air force assigned him a plane for a flight from Frankfurt to Biarritz in southern France to join his wife and 29-year-old daughter. They were to return to West Germany, where Beihl was scheduled to undergo medical tests and the family was to spend some time with relatives in southern Germany.

Served Purpose

Then he plans to go back to San Sebastian, Spain, where he was kidnapped Dec. 1 by the Basque separatist organization ETA. The kidnapers warned that he would meet the same fate as 16 Basques tried for murder and terrorism in the Spanish city of Burgos but released him before the verdict was announced and said his abduction had served its purpose, "at least for the moment."

At the Frankfurt airport Beihl avoided newsmen by riding underground police escort to the twin-engine aircraft in an airport bus for dignitaries.

Mrs. Beihl said in San Sebastian that she could not sleep during the night in anticipation of the reunion.

"I'm so very excited, happily excited, over the release of my husband," she said. "I tried hard to sleep, but all I could do was to close my eyes for a few minutes. I'm really eager to see and embrace him."

"Christmas day this year was the happiest one in my life, and I'll never be able to forget it no matter how long I live."

Beihl was freed on Christmas Eve after officials of ZDF, a West German television network, negotiated with the ETA, and sent two employees to an undisclosed location to pick him up.

Wearing an open-collared shirt and looking very tired, Beihl told in a ZDF interview Friday night of a harrowing experience culminated by a Christmas Eve filled with depression because he wouldn't be with his wife and daughter for Christmas.

Beihl said he protested when his captors gave him sharply worded orders, telling them: "I have suffered enough. I don't need any more threats."

Five or six of the kidnapers accompanied him to the transfer point, where correspondent Albert Gaum and cameraman Baldur Freck waited with a limousine.

A ZDF sound engineer, Andre Chambrun, and assistant cameraman Peter Kruse were left behind "as a form of security," Beihl said, and Gaum drove to Wiesbaden. When their arrival was announced, Chambrun and Kruse were released.

Bellaire Court Is One Family for Christmas

Christmas Eve is celebrated in a special way on Bellaire Court on Appleton's north side. It was the 37th annual observance of this type by the families on the court. The festivities included a childrens' choir, a fathers' torchlight parade, a reading of the first Christmas story and a visit from Santa's helpers, complete with presents. Homes on the court were decorated with large red and white wooden candy canes and the large tree in front of the Roy Wittwer Jr. residence, 12 Bellaire Ct., was decorated.

After the torchlight parade, residents of the court gathered at the Wittwer home for caroling and to hear Dr. Ralph Landis, 18 Bellaire Ct., tell the Nativity story. During the story, Santa's helpers interrupted to distribute filled stockings to the children.

Mrs. Roy Wittwer and Mrs. John Stephan, 43 Bellaire Ct., were co-chairmen. Members of the childrens' choir, lower right, all wore large bows. Little Mary Jo Nabbeled, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurie Jury, 41 Bellaire Ct., concentrates on the carols.

Christmas Fire Leaves Family of Seven Homeless

Rural Neenah Residents Lose Everything

NEENAH — A family of seven was left literally with nothing more than the clothing on their backs Friday, after a fire completely consumed their two-story frame home in the Town of Neenah on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Stoegbauer and their five children ranging in age from 7 to 13, had left their home at 1515 Winchester Road about 9 a.m. to spend Christmas with relatives in Winneconne.

At 11 a.m. a neighbor spotted the fire and called the towns of Neenah and Menasha volunteer fire department. The home was completely destroyed including all the family's belongings.

There was no insurance on the contents.

Appeal for Clothing

The Twin Cities Chapter of the American Red Cross has issued an appeal for clothing and household furnishings and a place to live. The telephone number is 722-4196.

Mrs. Stoegbauer said that "everything in the house was destroyed." This included all the childrens' Christmas gifts and a new little puppy.

According to fire department officials, the fire apparently started when the coal furnace overheated. The house was owned by George Strohmeyer.

The Red Cross appeal lists the family as "needing everything, especially clothes."

Mrs. Stoegbauer is especially interested in finding a place for herself, her husband and five children to live.

3 Boys, 2 Girls

The family includes three boys and two girls. The boys are ages 13, 12 and 10 and wear sizes 12 slim, 12 regular and 10 regular.

The girls are ages 7 and 8 and wear sizes 8 and 10. Stoegbauer wears a 14-14½ shirt and 32 waist, 29 length slacks. His wife wears a 16-18.

The Stoegbauers now are staying with relatives at 182 Plummer Court in Neenah which has been established as the central collection point for clothes.

According to the fire department, the furnace had been stoked just before the family left for the day.

Three trucks and 28 volunteers answered the alarm.

Saw Used to Free 3 From Crashed Car

A spectacular accident on W. Wisconsin Avenue Thursday night involving a parked truck sent two young men to Appleton Memorial Hospital, one with a broken leg.

Appleton police said an auto driven by Gerald M. Bauman, 24, route 5, Appleton, was traveling east on Wisconsin when he lost control, smashed into a parked City of Appleton Water Dept. truck, glanced off, skidded sideways into a telephone pole and turned onto its side.

Three persons were trapped inside.

With fire department floodlights lighting the overturned car, police used a hacksaw to slice a windshield post and remove glass. Bauman was removed from the demolished car with a broken leg, cuts and bruises. He, and a passenger, Gary R. Petroff, 24, Black Creek, who sustained cuts and bruises, were taken to the hospital by Larry's ambulance.

A third person also was extracted from the car, but authorities, who said his injuries were minor, failed to identify him.

Police said the water department was working on a broken water main near Rankin Street where the mishap occurred. Amber lights and flashers were operating on the truck, police said.

Sen. Lotto Predicts More Moderation in 1971 State Legislature

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The voters of Wisconsin in November had a message for the men who run their state government, says State Sen. Myron Lotto of Green Bay, and the legislators who will return to their chambers in January have understood it and probably will act accordingly.

"There will be a trend toward moderation from both the right and the left," said the Republican Senate representative of Brown and Calumet counties in a year-end message to his constituents forecasting the attitude of the legislature which will operate with Democrats in secure control of the Assembly and the Republicans with nearly as solid a control over the State Senate.

"Conservatives and liberals will be drawn a little closer together on many issues. I believe this was the story that the voters were trying to tell at the polls in November," he wrote.

Lotto's term will expire in 1972. His district, like most others, showed a stronger turnout of Democrats in the last elections. Lotto's Senate district now is equally divided between the parties for Assembly representation. It includes two Democrats and two Republicans.

Co-op Among 5 Being Sued

Outagamie Producers Co-op, Black Creek, has been named as one of five Wisconsin cooperatives in a $4 million anti-trust suit by a Chicago dairy.

Sidney Wanzer and Sons Inc., Chicago, charged the five cooperatives, and Associated Milk Producers, Inc., (AMPI), with violating the Clayton Anti-Trust Act.

Wanzer's action filed Wednesday in U.S. Circuit Court, claims the co-ops joined to restrain it from purchasing milk. The milk was marketed by Central Milk Producers Co-operative, formed by a group of operating co-ops, through Pure Milk Association, (PMA) a branch of AMPI.

Outagamie Producers Co-op, a member of CMPC, has sold milk to the Wanzer dairy in the past, according to Lavern Swenson, Berlin, general manager. "We've shipped a lot of milk to Wanzer," Swenson said he has not consulted CMPC attorneys about possible action to counter the suit and declined to comment on the charges.

"I'm not in a position to make any statement," said Swenson.

The $3 million is being sought from Alto Co-operative Creamery, Alto, CMPC, Lake to Lake Dairy, Manitowoc; Central Milk Sales Agency, Wisconsin Dairies Cooperative, Barraboo; and Associated Milk Producers Inc.

AMPI also is faced with an additional $1 million suit in the action.

Truman Torgerson, Manitowoc, general manager for Lake-to-Lake Coop, denied charges the CMPC organization has discriminated against Wanzer dairy.

"We haven't denied Wanzer any milk."

Wanzer claimed the CMPC notified the dairy Dec. 10 that shipments of milk were being terminated. The dairy also has been receiving milk from the National Farmers Organization (NFO), as well as CMPC.

Wanzer was affected Dec. 1 when CMPC notified Chicago dairies prices for milk would be increased to dealers not purchasing major supplies from CMPC.

Torgerson said the actions of CMPC were simply price adjustments. "To the best of our knowledge we're within the law all the way around."

Under the Capper-Volstead Act cooperatives are enabled to bargain for prices with privileges similar to those enjoyed by labor unions.

Wanzer Dairies have received treatment equal to that of other Chicago dealers, said George Gould, Waupun, who is the president of Chicagoland Cooperative, which includes the Wisconsin co-ops. Gould also is general manager of Alto Co-op Creamery, Alto. "We've offered them the same terms, the same announced prices that other dealers are getting."

Wanzer's suit had claimed the dairy was "forced to submit to such terms that are exacted," by Central Milk Producers Co-operative. There are 20 co-ops in the CMPC.

Records Noted

Gould said his records show CMPC shipped milk to Wanzer dairy during November but that December records have not been compiled.

"My opinion is they (CMPC) have not refused to sell them (Wanzer Dairy) milk if they were willing to pay our announced price," said Gould.

A St. Paul attorney will represent the Wisconsin cooperatives in the action which Gould said was only a continuing court battle between Wanzer Dairy and the sales organization.

"We've been in court with these guys for three years."

Accident Kills Menasha GI in Vietnam

MENASHA — Army Pfc. Harvey Jacobson, 22, the son of Mrs. Geraldine Glodowski, 921 Ninth St., has died in Vietnam. He had been serving there since last July.

Jacobson was pushing a military water craft across a stream when he was caught in the current, according to the military notice. He was taken to a military facility on Dec. 19 and died there.

Jacobson was a four-year veteran of the Navy. He attended Menasha High School, entered the Navy when he was 17 and got out of the service when he was 21. About a year later he joined the Army, said his mother.

Mrs. Glodowski said she was notified of the death on Dec. 20. Jacobson has four brothers and a sister. His father lives in Pennsylvania.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Kesler Funeral Home.

Chimney Fire Makes Things Too Hot for Santa at One House

Santa tried to enter a southside home Christmas Eve, but things got too hot.

Fire fighters went to the home of Dick Van De Weghe, 1826 S. Sanders St., shortly after 11 p.m. on the report of a chimney fire. Van De Weghe had extinguished most of the fire before they arrived. Officials further extinguished the blaze when they arrived, opened a damper and let it burn out.

Two units were at the scene for 25 minutes. One fire fighter said a heavy set man garbed in red was seen leaping from the chimney moments before they stopped in front of the residence.

Manawa Group Snowmobile Club Invites Members

MANAWA — Craig Shambeau, vice president of the Winter Wolves Snowmobile Club has issued an invitation to area families to become members of the group.

Craig points out the purpose of a typical snowmobile club is "to provide a schedule of events that is fun for everyone."

The club's "trail committee" has the responsibility of gaining landowners' permission, making signs, marking and maintaining the trails.

Craig feels in "unity there is strength." The local club can represent a voice in making recommendations to legislative bodies regarding snowmobile laws and usage of registration money.

The Winter Wolves Snowmobile Club, a nonprofit organization, has no rules, requirements or restrictions that would be objectionable to anybody interested in good safe winter fun.

This winter's calendar of events includes a family outing every other week with a cookout or potluck. Adult rides are being scheduled for once a week with emphasis on cross country trips to neighboring club areas. There also are tentative plans for afternoon-evening dinner rides.

The Christmas Party is scheduled at Cedar Springs on Dec. 27.

Membership in the club can be obtained by contacting the membership committee, which includes Kenneth Groholski, Jerry Sadowsky and Leon Mondlock.

He's Pleased, Contented and Full

Here lies the Spirit of Christmas Past.

Too much turkey and that extra sliver of plum pudding make even his eyelids heavy. He sprawls on the couch, angled awkwardly between the heap of discarded gift-wrap and the box of plastic dishes temporarily forsaken there by one of the giggling urchins now playing under the tree.

This slumbering Spirit in sock-feet seems an unsightly deposit, surrounded as he is by festive ornaments and tinsel flotsam of the holiday now duly observed.

Let Spirit of Christmas Past Sleep on

But don't disturb him as he grunts, grins and pillows his head on his hand.

He dreams of delighted squeals from small voices on the stair that morning, two sleepy figures descending to the livingroom to proclaim, "He remembered what I wanted!"

The Spirit is pleased, though a bearded elf got all the credit.

Just Right Gift

Behind the drooping lids, he sees again the face of his wife, as she opened her gift from him and he knew it was exactly what she wanted, too.

Now he sees again the dining room, with its unmatched chairs to make enough places and the card table set up for the youngsters, the fat turkey, a glass of Madeira for each adult. Grandma scooping out one more helping of dressing while declaring she really shouldn't.

The circle of relatives opening packages and exclaiming appropriately while paper and ribbon flutter to the floor and the waiting paws of the tantalized cat.

Now Aunts Hillary and Hester help with the dishes while Uncle Elmer and Grandpa search loudly in the next room for something to agree on.

Sleep in Peace

The spirit sleeps. Leave him in peace.

Soon enough he'll awaken to shag the cat out of the tree, where it perches on a lower branch and bats a blue bauble that is about to shatter in the Spirit's gift argyles.

Soon enough he'll have to snatch his new electric drill away from Junior, who finds it far more fascinating than his own electric racing car set.

Soon enough he'll have to figure out why the doll that jerks its arms and speaks nursery rhymes has quit lurching and has lost its voice.

Tabs and Slots

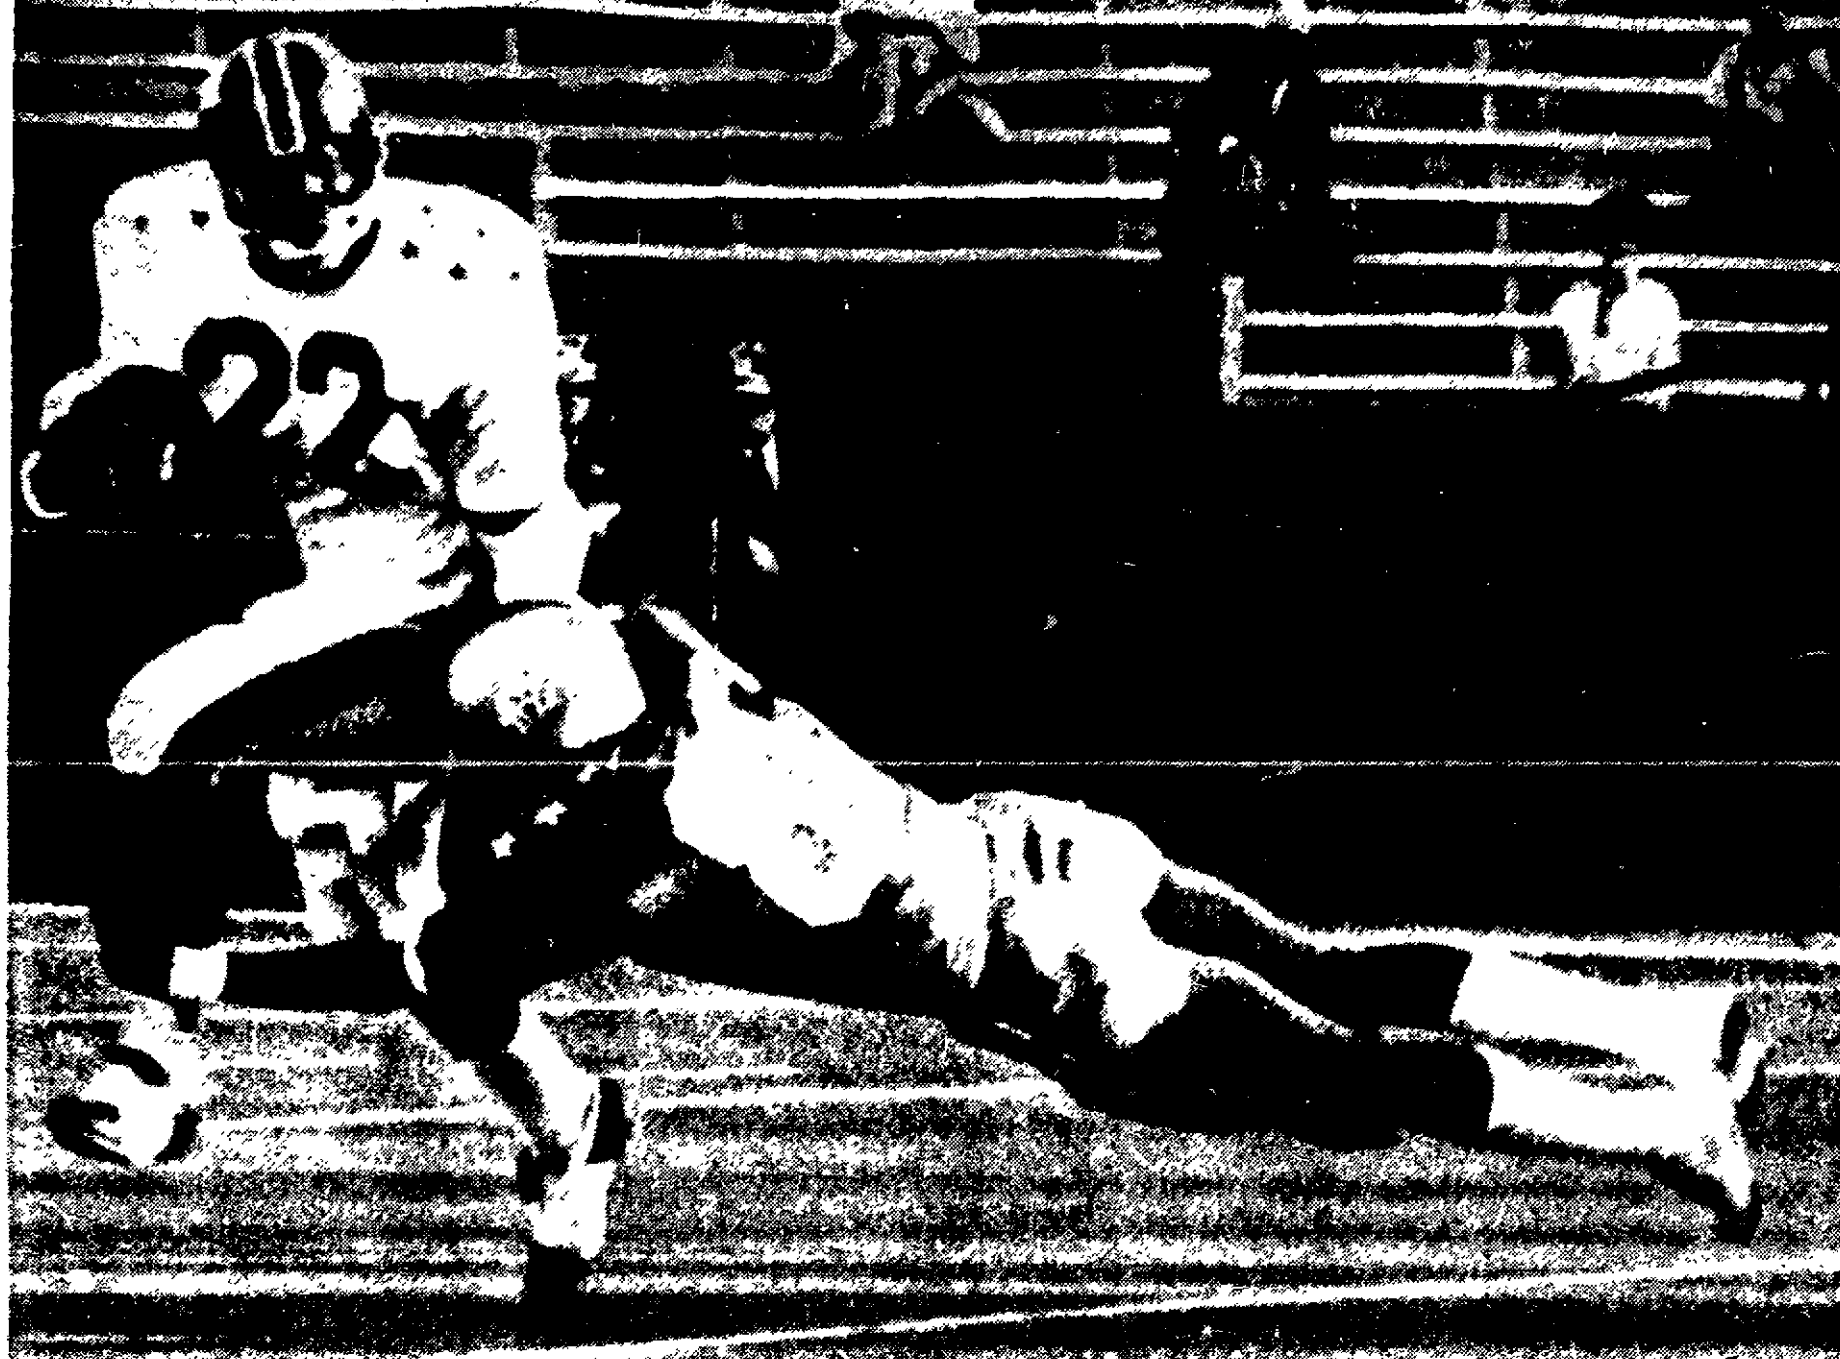

Soon enough he will be roused to put together that three-story doll house with the tabs A that go into the slots B that don't seem to exist.

And if there's time, he may sneak a time trial on Junior's electric race car set.

And dismiss from his mind the coming New Year and the bills it will bring.

Let the Spirit rest, and dream again of the candle-lit chapel last night as voices lifted softly with, "Silent night, holy night..."

Let him smile and sigh and sleep in peace, the Spirit of Christmas Past.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Lynn Dickey, with flashy white shoes and long hair, gives the appearance of a Joe Namath with healthy knees.

And he's also got an arm of gold.

"We hit them up the middle with passes," said the Kansas State quarterback after leading the North to a 28-7 decision over the South in the Christmas Day Shrine All-Star collegiate football game.

"Their linebackers didn't seem to react. So, we kept firing."

The handsome 6-foot-4 Dickey hit 14 of 27 passes for 180 yards and was named the game's most valuable player.

It was the North's fifth straight success in the event.

"These are good athletes, all of them," said Dickey. "But, I think it was a case of the North having a little edge in major college talent."

All in all, it was a big day for the Big Eight Conference.

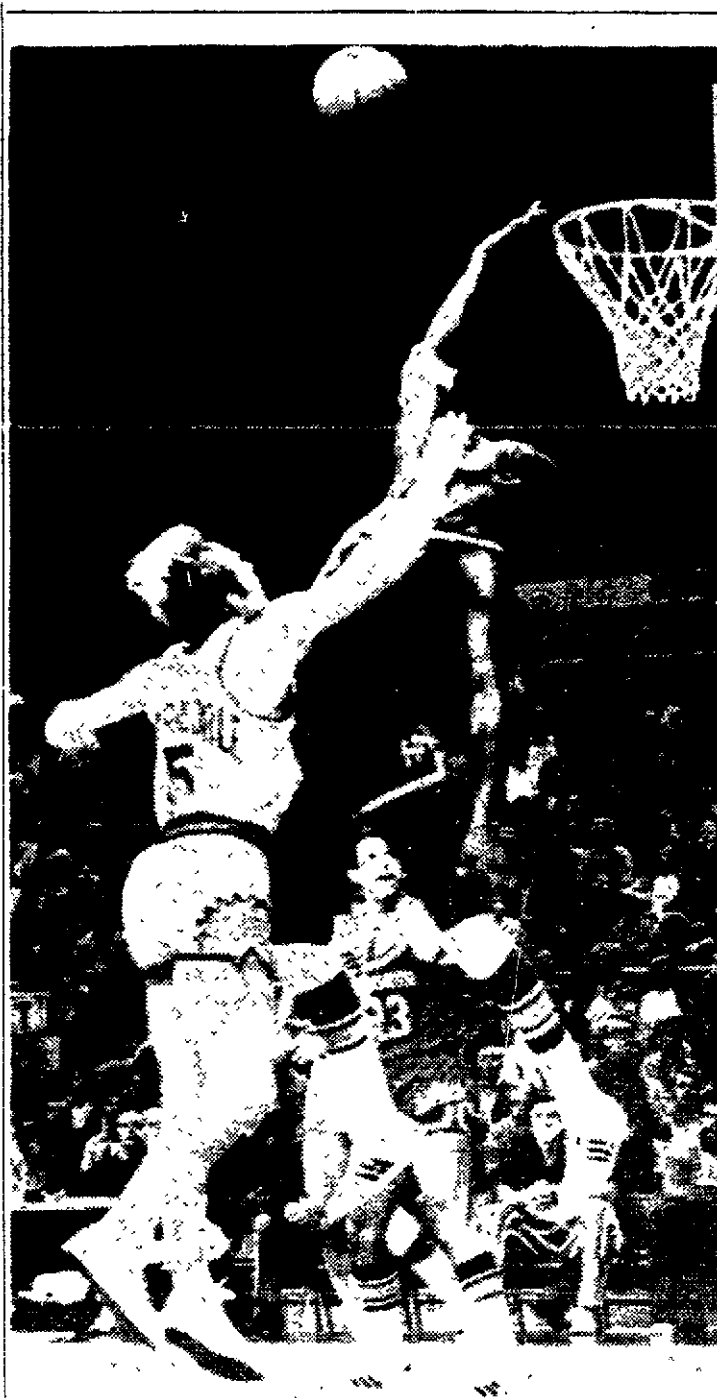

Kansas State Duo
Dickey, North Coach Vince Gibson and top Yank pass receiver Mike Montgomery all are from Kansas State.

Kansas runner John Riggins gained 96 yards in 20 carries and scored on romps of 13 and eight yards to far outflank the ball carriers from both sides.

Larry Brown of Kansas grabbed five passes for 24 yards and Otto Stowe of Iowa State caught four for 51 yards.

Each represents the Big Eight.

Vikings, 49ers Clash Sunday

NFL Teams Start Playoffs Today

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Four National Football League teams spent a peaceful afternoon today, lounging in front of television sets to watch four others bang heads as the conference playoffs got underway.

But the resting ends Sunday for the Miami Dolphins and Oakland Raiders, set to clash in an American Conference showdown on the West Coast, and the Minnesota Vikings and San Francisco 49ers, who'll be going against each other in a National Conference game at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

In today's games, Cincinnati played at Baltimore and Detroit was at Dallas as the NFL's Super Bowl countdown began. Conference championship games are scheduled for Jan. 3 with the winners advancing to the Jan. 17 Super Bowl at Miami.

The Dolphins, enjoying their first taste of post-season competition, would like nothing better than to be the host team for that Jan. 17 date in Miami. But to accomplish that, Miami will have to get past Oakland and its late-game lightning.

The Raiders strung together a streak of hairbreadth finishes to capture the Western Division crown, most of them accomplished with the aging but remarkably accurate toe of George Blanda in the middle of the heroics.

But the Dolphins figure they have a kicking match for Blanda in stumpish Gary Yepremian, the 5-foot-8 native of Cyprus who kicked 22 field goals this season and set a Miami club record with 97 points.

Larry Csonka, No. 2 rusher in the American Conference, gives Miami a power runner to balance the passing of quarterback Bob Griese. Csonka gained 874 yards—13 more than Oakland's Hewitt Dixon, who handles the bulk of the Raider ground game when Daryle Lamonia isn't throwing.

Frigid weather—a normal climate for this time of year—was expected in Minnesota for the Vikings' clash with San Francisco.

The 49ers have the top quarterback in the National Conference in veteran John Brodie whose 24 touchdown passes were the best total in the NFL. Brodie's top receiver is Gene Washington, whose 53 catches were fourth best in pro football this season. Ironically, the Vikings No. 1 receiver is also named Gene Washington. Minnesota's Washington had 44 receptions, most of them from quarterback Gary Cuozzo.

Cuozzo, who inherited the Vikings quarterback job from Joe Kapp, is nursing a sprained ankle but is expected to be ready for San Francisco.

This game matches the NFL's No. 1 offensive team—San Francisco—against Minnesota's top-ranked defense. That's like having the immovable object against the irresistible force.

Set Four Marks

Mike Adamle Wins Big 10 MVP Award

CHICAGO (AP) — Northwestern fullback Mike Adamle has been named the Big Ten's most valuable player in the Chicago Tribune poll.

Adamle, who is only 5-9 and 190 pounds, set four conference and six school records in leading Northwestern to a 6-1 record and a tie for second place in the Big Ten last season.

And yet, as a high school player in Kent, Ohio, Adamle received only one full scholarship offer. That was from Northwestern.

The Tribune announced Friday that Adamle was the runaway winner in the most valuable voting. The runnerup was Ohio State middle guard Jim Stillwagon.

Voting in the contest were the conference coaches, 10 veteran officials, Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed and two Tribune sports writers. The poll has been conducted with conference approval since 1924.

Adamle joins his coach, Alex Agase, as a MVP winner. Agase won the honor in 1946 as a lineman at Illinois.

Adamle's greatest accomplishment was rushing for 1,053 yards in Big Ten competition in 1970. This topped the mark of 1,017 set by Ron Johnson of Michigan in 1968.

Other conference records he set were most rushes in a season, 250; most rushes in a game, 48 against Minnesota; and average rushes per game, 35.7.

Adamle also holds all of Northwestern's marks for ground gaining for a game, season and career.

Woody Has 'Mixed Emotions' About No-Repeat Regulation

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — You would think Woody Hayes would be a staunch opponent of the Big Ten's no repeat rule to the Rose Bowl. The Ohio State football coach isn't.

"I have mixed emotions about it," Hayes said of the rule that prohibits a Big Ten champion from making two straight trips to the Rose Bowl.

"Coming out here causes a definite disruption of classwork. Ask your dean," Hayes said before an Ohio State practice today for their Rose Bowl date Jan. 1 with Stanford.

"It might throw the league out of balance, too," he said. The Pacific-8 permits its champion to go Rose Bowling every year in its pact with the Big Ten.

Ohio State and Stanford resumed practice today after both squads took Christmas off. The Buckeyes had a couple of parties at their hotel; Stanford players spent the holidays in private homes of parents and friends.

Hayes said Ohio State's game plan—it is expected to emphasize a running attack—has been completed. The Bucks went through heavy hitting in the single practice at East Los Angeles College.

Stanford Coach John Ralston was busy installing a game plan, obviously featuring Jim Plunkett's passing, and pondering the Ohio State scouting reports. The Indians whipped through a pair of practices at Long Beach State College.

The Buckeyes will spend Sunday at Marineland of the Pacific while Stanford devotes its time to another workout.

Well-Rested Bucks to Test San Francisco

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks will be well rested when they attempt to beat the San Francisco Warriors tonight for the third time this season, but Coach Larry Costello does not expect a particularly easy time in the National Basketball Association encounter.

Milwaukee has scored 119-110 and 127-102 triumphs over San Francisco this season, and the Bucks have had a four day rest since easily beating the Los Angeles Lakers Monday.

"It'll be a tough game," Costello insisted. "Because 'Frisco has everything... scoring power, strong rebounding, good all-around personnel."

The Bucks will be idle again Sunday, but then play their first NBA game of the season in Monday night against the Cincinnati Royals.

IJW Hockey Team To Defend Title At Invitational

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The University of Wisconsin hockey team will defend its St. Louis Invitational championship in the meet which gets underway Sunday.

The Badgers will play Princeton and Boston College will face St. Louis in matches Sunday, and the winners will meet for the championship Monday night.

Wisconsin, which has a 6-1 record this year, beat Michigan and Brown to win last year's tournament.

Cousy protested because Cleveland was permitted a field goal after the horn sounded.

Tom Van Arsdale and Norm Van Lier each scored 23 points to pace the Royals while Dave Sorenson led Cleveland with 20.

Suns Outlast Atlanta
Phoenix took an early 17-point lead but had to stave off a late Atlanta rally to beat the Hawks. The Hawks pulled within one point late in the third quarter.

Lou Hudson, the game's leading scorer with 33 points, led the Hawks rally. Rookie Pete Maravich scored 28 points for the Hawks while Dick Van Arsdale was the high Sun scorer with 32.

Baltimore's victory over Chicago came despite a 42-point performance by the Bulls' Bob Love. The Bulls, paced by Earl Monroe's 25 points and Wes Unseld's 22 rebounds, jumped to a 68-42 halftime lead and waltzed the rest of the way. Love canned 16 of 28 from the floor and was 10-for-11 at the free throw line.

Willis Reed returned from a three-game absence occasioned by the flu and scored 20 points as the Knicks whipped Buffalo.

Two crucial free throws in the waning minutes by Hal Greer, who wound up with 28 points, helped Philadelphia outlast Detroit. Dave Bing was Detroit's top scorer, with 28 points.

Jerry West scored 32 points, Happy Hairston 29 and Wilt Chamberlain 24 to lead the Lakers past Boston. John Havlicek paced the Celtic offense with 25 points.

Chamberlain sat out the first 10 minutes of the game because he missed Coach Joe Mullaney's team discussion at Friday's practice. The victory snapped a two-game Lakers' losing streak.

Mullaney said he told his players they would be benched for not producing. He said Chamberlain was not reprimanded but did not start because "I did not feel it right to Wilt to start him tonight, then pull him out, inasmuch as I had not had a chance to explain."

Chamberlain and Mullaney met for a long talk before the game and Wilt was unable to participate in pregame warm-ups.

"It was not his fault," Mullaney said of Chamberlain's missing the practice. He said Wilt was out of town and missed an airline connection because of bad weather.

California Horses May Use Drug

Old Law Permits Controlled Use Of Butazolidin

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — A number of horses may be drugged when they help open Santa Anita's 34th season of thoroughbred racing today.

And it will be legal because the day coincides with effectiveness of California horse racing board Rules 1887 and 1888. California is the third and largest state to permit controlled use of Butazolidin, the same drug that caused the Kentucky Derby uproar of 1968, by parimutuel racing.

Butazolidin, described as neither a stimulant nor a depressant, has been used with success in Colorado and Nebraska racing.

Dr. Alan H. Edmondson, official track veterinarian at Santa Anita, refers to Butazolidin as "a super aspirin" which "simply eases various types of arthritic aches and pains."

"There have been other more dangerous and expensive medications in use before now."

Edmondson said probably more than 50 per cent of the horses will use the drug at first.

"But I think the initial enthusiasm for usage... will cool down in a short time. Eventually, I think about one-third of the horses will be using Butazolidin."

Horses trained with Butazolidin in the past but were not allowed to race while under treatment. Edmondson said the new program will be better because "consistency of usage will be carefully controlled. Horses cannot run hot and cold."

Names of horses given Butazolidin treatment will not be made public, he said, but "there will be a strict chain of responsibility."

"The trainer must register a Butazolidin horse and certify he is raceably sound before he is allowed to use the drug. The veterinarian who treats the stable must see that the drug is administered at the proper time and in the proper amount."

"If a horse does not show the proper amount of Butazolidin in his post-race test, the trainer will be subject to penalties just as if a drug showed when it was not supposed to be used."

Lillian Board, acclaimed as the "Golden Girl" of British athletics because of her track successes, died today of cancer in a Munich, Germany hospital. (AP Wirephoto)

Skiing Termed Excellent

Conditions Pleasing for Outdoor Sports

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The holiday weekend in Wisconsin shaped up as a pleasing one for skiers and snowmobilers.

The state has a snow cover that ranges from fair to excellent, although the Department of Natural Resources warned fishermen and snowmobile enthusiasts to be careful because of variable ice conditions.

The snow base, as of late eve, ranged from three inches at Eau Claire to 15 at Land O'Lakes and Ashland.

Other official snow depths included: Milwaukee 4 inches, Madison 9, Lone Rock 8, La Crosse 7, Green Bay 6, Wausau 4, Park Falls 5, Superior-Duluth 13 and Watertown 10.

In Upper Michigan, Houghton had 19 inches and Marquette 12. Most ski resorts report conditions excellent.

Some additional snow was considered likely Sunday, and daytime temperatures were to be in the 15-25 range.

District Conditions
The DNR around-the-state report by districts:

Northwest — panfishing is good, with most lakes safe for foot traffic. Snowmobiling is good throughout.

North central — thawing has hurt both ice fishing and snowmobiling in Marinette County, but Vilas and Oneida counties have at least 10 inches of snow cover. Walleyes are biting on Otter, Pelican and Metonga lakes.

West central — snowmobiling ranges from good in La Crosse County to fair in the Black River area. Lakes offer the best snow and most are safe.

Mississippi River ice is mostly unsafe, while frozen marshes and open creeks must also be watched. Some walleyes are being taken from the Mississippi, and fishing on inland lakes is generally good. Lake Onalaska, Goose Island and Stoddard are especially good for panfish.

Lake Michigan — snowmobiling is only fair, but new snow has improved the Lake Winnebago area. Fishing is limited to smaller lakes, plus some bays on larger waters.

Southern and southeast — uncertain or poor ice conditions have curtailed fishing. While some Northerns are being taken at Tichigan Marsh and bluegills at Beaver Dam Lake, the DNR cautions to beware of thin ice.

Snowmobiling is heavy, especially in Kettle Moraine State Forest.

WCC Assembly To Meet Jan. 19 In Monona

MADISON — The annual assembly of the Wisconsin Council of Churches, the chief policy making body of the 10-member denomination, will be Jan. 19 at St. Stephen Lutheran Church, Monona.

This year the board of directors of the council has authorized that invitations be sent to non-member denominations to send participant-observers.

Invitations were sent to the five Roman Catholic dioceses of the state, two districts of the American Lutheran Church, Greek Orthodox, and others, Willis Merriman, executive director, said.

The assembly will convene at 9:30 p.m. with a drama worship by the Chancel Players of Green Bay. There will be only one major address by the council's executive. Reports of the work of WCC will be done in a 15 minute audio-visual presentation.

Participation cost is $2.50.

Congregationalists 10, Catholics Nothing

WHITESLEY, England (AP) — Tom Neaney and his wife Gilsdorf, the Rev. Daniel St. Joseph, Caroline couldn't decide whether or not to have their children christened. He is a Roman Catholic and she a Congregationalist and they evaded the issue for 17 years. Now the kids have decided for themselves. The vote was unanimous—a bumper christening ceremony for all 10 at the local Cambridgeshire Congregationalist church.

Dreaded Toll

THRAPSTON, England (AP) — Every time the church bells ring in this Northamptonshire town, drinkers at the local pub down their glasses and go home — because they can't hear themselves talk. But although publican Jack Livesey complained, the rector, Rev. John Dakin, said the bells would keep tolling as "only the people in the pub objected."

Norm Ullman had a double reason to celebrate his 35th birthday today.

The veteran center for the Toronto Maple Leafs scored two goals against the Minnesota North Stars Christmas night and joined the select 400-goal club in the National Hockey League.

NHL records list only four players with 400 or more goals at the start of this season. They are Gordie Howe of Detroit, Maurice Richard and Jean Beliveau of Montreal and Bobby Hull of Chicago.

Ullman's two goals were in a losing cause, however. The North Stars snapped Toronto's seven-game winning streak 6-3 with three goals in the last period.

The Boston Bruins whipped the Pittsburgh Penguins 8-4 for their 10th straight victory in the only other NHL game scheduled. The Bruins thus regained sole possession of first place in the East Division over the idle New York Rangers.

Ullman, born in Provost, Alta., on Dec. 26, 1935, helped tie the score for Toronto at 3-3 before the North Stars went ahead for good on Danny Grant's second goal after five minutes of the third period.

Last Two Goals

Barry Gibbs and Tom Reed added Minnesota's last two goals later in the third period.

Phil Esposito, Johnny Bucyk and Don Marcotte each scored two goals for Boston as the Bruins rallied to overcome a two-goal deficit and extend their unbeaten streak to 11.

Esposito, the NHL leading scorer, added an assist to his two goals and now has 68 points in 34 games.

Greg Polis scored twice for Pittsburgh in the last period after Andy Bathgate and Dean Prentice had given the Penguins a 2-0 lead in the first five minutes.

Griese Likes to 'Unbalance' Signals to Force Offside

MIAMI (AP) — Bob Griese is master of the "no-play offense." The Miami Dolphins' quarterback uses the bit of signal-calling trickery to pull opponents offside.

Usually it's on a third down situation with one yard to go. Sometimes it's even on fourth down.

"I simply unbalance my cadence and it fouls them up," said the ex-Purdue star today. "We are set to run a play we hope will earn the first down, but if the other side will hand it to us free, that's even surer."

Griese pulled his "hut-hut" magic against Buffalo Sunday when Miami ripped the Bills 45-7 to earn a National Football League playoff spot opposite Oakland.

"It works a lot, just so they don't start to expect it," said Griese. "It's like any trick situation—you've got to hold it until somebody is surprised by it."

Coach Don Shula said he has seen only one other pro quarterback — Bill Munson of Detroit — able to handle the "no-play offense" as effectively as Griese.

"I remember seeing a Lion-Ram game and Munson pulled Los Angeles offside seven times," said Shula. "Deacon Jones was really bobbing back and forth listening to Munson's confusing cadence count."

Shula called the Oakland defense a "tough, bump-and-run type that never gives you breathing room. They're always tight on receivers and really challenge you."

Former Pack Star, Taylor, Has Surgery

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Former star Green Bay Packer fullback Jimmy Taylor is expected to be hospitalized for a week or 10 days following a gall bladder operation.

Officials at Southern Baptist Hospital said he was doing "very well" following the surgery Thursday, which he said was not done on an emergency basis.

Women's Volleyball

KAUKAUNA — Mike's Bar No. 2 ran its National League leading record to 24-3 Wednesday night in Women's Volleyball play by sweeping three games from Hietpas Motors.

Also scoring three wins were Bob and Mary's J. J. Corral and Rexall Drugs. Florida Communities won two from Rich and Sally's and Balza DX took two from Judy's Rose Hill.

From left to right are Bruce Mueller, grade 8; Mark Lemons, grade 7; John Herzfeldt, grade 10; John Plamann, grade 9, and Kerry O'Neill, grade 5. The grade 6 winner is still to be determined. Football and the Single Girl

Elinor Picks Colts, Cowboys, Vikings, Raiders

BY ELINOR KATNE

Baltimore Colts 27 - Cincinnati Bengals 13

Experience in Big Games is a big advantage for Colts, who've been there before. Come to think of it, they've been close so many times before perhaps Baltimore deserves the title of NFL Bridesmaid, not Dallas. Colts haven't won since 1959.

Paul Brown will undoubtedly borrow from Weeb's book — and run left, at Roy Hilton and Ted Hendricks. If you remember Super Bowl III, Weeb ran right at Bragase and Shinnick, retiring both. But the rest of Baltimore's defense should rise to quash the Bengals. I would like to see retiring Jimmy Orr win a squeaker in the final seconds with one of those corner of the end-zone specialty catches.

Dallas Cowboys 42 - Detroit Lions 27

Cowboys haven't beaten anybody much this year, but they can upset the Lions with defense and Bob Hayes. Detroit's secret weapon is tight end Charley Sanders, but Dallas has important Cornell Green playing against Sanders. Because both teams can run, the passing becomes vital, which leaves Hayes to make the vital points. They say Dallas can't win big ones, but those were against Cleveland and Green Bay. This is Detroit.

Minnesota Vikings 16 - San Francisco 49ers 14

The 49ers have been winning but, except for Oakland, they've been giving up a lot of points. They aren't going to win unless they score early, and will need help...like a long Bruce Taylor runback. On a frozen field those big slow Vikings backs can grind it out. Brodie was thrown only eight times this year, but I'm afraid Alan Page may spoil John's season. And it hurts more to be flattened on frozen ground.

Oakland Raiders 35 - Miami Dolphins 24

The Dolphins have beaten Oakland before (with Warfield beating Willie Brown on two bombs), and they believe they can repeat. The Raiders have felt all season long they were destined to win the Super Bowl, but they have certainly been fooling around on their road to destiny. This game is the toughest one for the Raiders: next week, if they last that long, will be easier.

Acquire Many Players on 'Rebound'

Titan Coaches Have to Recruit Without Scholarships to Offer

BY ROD GNERLICH

OSHKOSH — Oshkosh State University coaches Dave Hochtritt and Russ Young are faced with one big problem after every football season — recruiting players without being able to offer scholarships for athletics.

"The reason no scholarships are offered is to achieve balance among the schools, and to keep the competition even."

This situation naturally makes recruiting top state athletes a genuine hassle especially in the case of all-state and all-conference players.

In Competition

"We feel we are in competition with the eight other state universities but not the bigger schools because we can't offer scholarships. After we find out a kid is going to a scholarship school there isn't very much we can do, but if he is choosing between the state universities then we feel we have equal footing," Hochtritt said.

When dealing with the scholarship athletes, the Titan tries a different approach. "We encourage the kid to take the scholarship, but we get many back on the rebound because they get disenchanted at the first school they go to," Hochtritt noted.

This rebound process has paid off handsomely for Titan teams recently. In football for instance, all-conference players like Norb Mendleski, Manfred Markham, Myles Strasser, Pete Gabrielson, and John Saletri were transfer students from other colleges where they originally were attending school under scholarships.

Great Cage Team

The great Titan basketball team which finished third in the NAIA national tournament in 1968 was led by a couple of stars named Ron Hayek and John Lallensack both of whom "bounced to WSU-O."

Hochtritt described the Titan "four-step" system. "We use a four-step procedure. First, we compile a master list beginning with all-conference honorable mention players throughout the state and ending with players who are recommended to us by their coaches."

"Second, we write to the school and make an appointment to see the boy. This is the most important step," Hochtritt remarked. During this first visit the players being recruited fills out a card which states personal information which aids the coaches in determining what his interests will be upon visiting WSU-O.

"Third, we invite him here to Oshkosh to visit us for a weekend," the player is placed in a dorm with freshmen football players during his stay.

Send Letter

"Fourth, we follow up in the form of a letter." This letter together with the card the player earlier filled out is placed in recruitment file.

"If we don't hear from him after the first four steps we try another letter in spring. By then he will have made his choice."

Three things are sold to the player: Oshkosh football, the Oshkosh academic program and the personality of the coaches.

In regard to money, the Titan philosophy is: "It costs a kid about $1,000 to go to school without an athletic scholarship here. But even if he gets a $1,000 scholarship from a bigger school it will still cost him an additional $1,000. So the relative costs are equal and the scholarship is reduced to a status symbol."

Financial Help

The Oshkosh athlete has the same help financially as other students namely financial aids and work-study. "These aids are not based on his athletic ability but upon his needs," Hochtritt said.

Another angle is that Oshkosh has no spring football program which enables prospective athletes to try out for spring sports.

While the big name football players slip away, the Titan recruiting program has overcome the no-scholarship handicap admirably coming up with an abundance of sleepers like Ron Cardo, Dave Kanahs, and Clair Rasmussen. The football program has flourished as are

Florida vs. Carolina at Greensboro	Texas at Pittsburgh
Indiana at Memphis

In the National Basketball Association, it was Phoenix 127, Atlanta 115; New York 115, Buffalo 102; Cincinnati 17, Cleveland 100; Baltimore 128, Chicago 112; Philadelphia 105, Detroit 100 and Los Angeles 123, Boston 113.

Zelmo Beaty, who scored 32 points, led Memphis to an early 10-point lead at 18-8, but the Stars rallied behind the Jones boys to tie it at 49 at the half. The lead changed hands several times before Steve Jones put the game out of reach.

Charlie Scott scored 29 points and Jim Eakins hit for 22 and hauled in 19 rebounds to lead Virginia's runaway triumph that boosted the Squires' Eastern Division lead over Kentucky to a full game.

Manny Leaks had 22 points and Ron Boone 19 to pace the Chaps.

John Brisker scored 39 points to lead Pittsburgh's success. The Condors went ahead 11-10 early in the first period on Steve Johnson's jump shot and never trailed.

Bob Verga scored 41 points for Carolina.

St. Mary Alumni Contest Sunday

MENASHA — Four teams of St. Mary High School graduates will make up the Zephyrs' annual alumni basketball program Sunday night in the SMHS gym.

Graduates from the 1960-68 classes will play the 1969 and 1970 seniors at 6:30 while alumni from 1950-61 will duel the 1962-65 group at 8 p.m. A social hour for alumni and friends will follow.

Donkey Basketball Slated Sunday In Xavier Gym

Donkey basketball will be played at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Xavier High School gym.

The sponsoring Xavier High School Booster Club announces these pairings: the "v" cheerleaders vs. the "y" in the first game, and the football letterman vs. the alumni in the second. The winners will meet for the championship.

The games will be played from the backs of trained donkeys.

Tickets purchased before Sunday are priced at $1 for adults and 75 cents for students. At the door, they will be $1.25 and $1, respectively. Tickets are available at Berggren's, Bleier's bar and at XHS and are also being sold by booster club members.

Anderson, from tiny Augustana College, hit 8 of 20 for 77 yards.

Six Interceptions

Interceptions—six of them—were the South's bugaboo. Colorado's Jim Cooch was the peskiest defender, stealing two.

Richmond quarterback Charlie Richards, who was playing for his college boss, Frank Jones of the Spiders, connected on 15 of 26 passes for 249 yards, but was intercepted four times. A fat television contract that paid the sponsoring Shriners a record $10,000 turned the game into a profitable venture although only 15,402 persons showed up.

May Leave Phone Off Hook, Quips Rams' George Allen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ex-Ram players demonstrated strong support of their coach, George Allen, who resides in New York, says he will save any statement on Allen until after the contract expires.

Allen makes it clear, however, that if he leaves it will be because he was fired.

The 48-year-old Allen's coaching record at Los Angeles is 39-17-4, but it has not included an NFL championship.

The storied conflict between boss and employee apparently stems from lack of communication. And, after five years, neither appears ready to break the ice.

Allen was rehired by owner Dan Reeves two weeks after the Dec. 26, 1968 dismissal, after the other sports as evidence by WSU-O's dominance of the all sports trophy the last three years.

Tell Nothing to the Stranger on Phone

BY ANN LANDERS:
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been in telephone survey work for several months. It is fascinating and it is also frightening. I say frightening because, without even trying, I have been the recipient of information that could make husband. He was always too tired, or too busy, or he had a headache, or he had to see the finish of the late, late movie on TV. I've been down that road, too — and I can tell you it's a lonesome one.

About 15 months ago I came right out and announced to my husband that he was pushing me into another man's arms. I told him flatly I was too young and healthy to live a sexless life. He thought I was talking through my hat, but he was mistaken. The very next week I took a lover. I have never been happier or felt better in my life. My body no longer aches to be held. My lips no longer ache to be kissed. I am fulfilled and content. It's a glorious feeling to be wanted and loved.

I hope every man who turns his wife down will wonder if she wrote this letter. Don't print my city or state — let 'em guess. — Fulfilled
Dear Full: Here's your letter — and I'm letting 'em guess. They can guess about the next letter, too!
DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are so biased in favor of the men I could wring your neck.
Why is sex so important?

It's a crying shame that the woman who was hungry for love and signed her letter "Too Late for Me" didn't find my husband before I did. She would have been the perfect mate for my Round-the-Clock Romeo. Sex would have cured her throbbing headache, her ulcer, her flu, pneumonia, hives, earache, backache and bunions. Sex would have also solved all her emotional problems and taken her mind off her financial problems — if she didn't get pregnant again, that is.
I am glad you printed that woman's letter because it was comforting to know that some wives in this world are getting a little rest because I am — Exhausted and Fed Up in Mexico City Yesterday, for example, I learned such things as: Mrs. J. L. K. lives alone. She is hard of hearing and her sight is failing. Mrs. T. R.'s husband works night. He doesn't get home until 4:30 a.m. At such-and-such a d d r e s s (two children under 13 years of age are alone until 6 p.m. when their mother returns from work. At such-and-such a place there is never anyone home between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. At another address there is no one home between 4 p.m. and midnight — but always leave a light on "to they always leave a light on "to fool people."

Please, Ann, tell your readers not to give out information to a stranger on the telephone. It might make them sitting ducks. Remind folks that a little caution can go a long way. — Heard It All

HINTS FROM Heloise

BY HELOISE

Dear Heloise:
Well, this is the "day after" — and I wanted to share some thoughts with you. . .

I've just really realized what a spendthrift I am — and millions of other gals must be thinking these same thoughts today. So I'm off and running on an economy kick that just has to last until next Christmas!

This may sound like a letter of laughter, but believe me, it's a letter of despair! When I was sure I had my Christmas spending all done except about $5 worth, I spent about $50 more and have been sick at heart ever since.

So I'm planning already for next year. Since I can sew and have some talent for making things, I'm starting next week to put one item a week in the Christmas box. Sure, it makes extra work and effort, but will be worth it.

And I'm making a extra effort to waste less, be it food, electricity or time, that wonderful terrible, time.

Jo Ann Busch

Your thoughts, I am sure, are shared by most of us this day "after. . ."

Whatever happened to the "simple" life. . . when there was time to visit friends, time for homemade ice cream, time to enjoy a book and, most important, time for our loved ones?

And we are spending our money at the same rate at which we live — in a frenzied manner.

Perhaps with better planning, and an earlier start, we can join Jo Ann in an attempt to get more out of this beautiful season.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
In answer to the problem of a sliding mattress. . .

I remedied this by placing an old wool blanket between the mattress and the spring.
This holds it on real well with no more slipping.

Mrs. E. P.

Dear Heloise:
Another use for nylon net: We wrap our purple martin bird house in net to keep out unwanted birds during the winter. Sure does the trick!

Sue

Dear Heloise:
The elastic waistbands on my children's pajamas were forever losing their "snap" so that I started calling my boys the original "pinup" boys.

Then one day I got the bright idea of removing the elastic waistband from some of their worn-out underwear and sewing it to the pajama waist.

Worked out just fine.

Maria Golich

Dear Heloise:
For two years the metal sweeping attachment of my vacuum cleaner has adhered so tightly to the long nozzle that I gave up trying to remove it.

I have been using the other attachments on the short nozzle which did not solve the long-reach problem.

It finally dawned on me how easily a bottle lid can be removed after applying heat or hot water, so why not hold the attachment under the hot water faucet.

It was just that simple — off it came in a jiffy.

Mrs. L. Holeman

Dear Heloise:
When making an afternoon dress recently, I wanted a self-material buckle on the belt.

So I cut an oval from a plastic starch bottle and made a tubing in bias of the material and slipped it over a buckle. It gathered, but this matched the gathers at the neck.

Still not completely satisfied with the effect. I twisted the buckle into an "eight" and it

Legislative Unit To Air Policy on Car Shelters

KAUKAUNA — A discussion on a change in the ordinance to permit construction of temporary garages or car shelters and advantages of a primary election will be held at a meeting of the legislative committee of the common council at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the council chambers.

Review of the ordinance on temporary g a r a g e s was requested by the common council after several aldermen received requests to have these type of structures permitted under the building code.

Other legislative matters may also be brought up by committee members, according to Chairman William Rogers.

Climber Admits Surprise at End

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Warren Harding, conqueror of Yosemite Park's 3,000-foot-high El Capitan Rock Spire in a grueling 27-day effort, says the news coverage made him and his partner feel like "a glorified team of flagpole sitters."

Delayed by bad weather, Harding, 46, and Dean Caldwell, 27, reached the top of the monolith Nov. 18 and were greeted by more than 50 newsmen, who had walked up an easy route.

"Surprise would be a tremendous understatement," Harding — no relation to the late president — told the Sacramento Press Club Wednesday.

Nuclear Power Plant Starts Operations

Congratulations to the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. upon the start-up of the first generating unit in its new nuclear power plant at Two Creeks in Manitowoc County. This is the 19th such nuclear installation to go into operation in the country and the unit is the largest in Wisconsin. A second unit will go into operation next fall.

Nuclear generation of electrical power is the only feasible answer to a developing critical shortage of power supplies in this country. The limitation on the supplies of fossil fuels makes that source of energy incapable of meeting our tremendously growing needs.

Certain groups interested in preservation of the environment have questioned potential dangers of nuclear emissions from such plants and the warm water they discharge into Lake Michigan. But utility experts have satisfied the federal government that the levels of such pollution are minimal.

At the same time it must be considered that electrical power is badly needed in the fight against other forms of pollution, to operate sewage plants, industrial pollution abatement equipment and air filtration systems.

All pollution questions are quantitative as well as qualitative in nature. Nuclear generating plants are illustrative of the fact that we must accept minimum levels of pollution to satisfy the very great need for a readily expandable source of electrical energy in this country.

The 18-Year-Old Vote

The decision by the United States Supreme Court upholding the constitutionality of the 1970 Voting Rights Act guarantees that 18-year-olds will be able to vote for president and members of Congress in 1972. But it poses election administrative headaches for Wisconsin.

Because Wisconsin law limits voting for state and local officers to those 21 and older, separate polling lists and separate ballots will have to be prepared for voters under and over 21.

Given the fact that Congress enacted the Voting Rights Law earlier this year, the Wisconsin legislature could have cleared up this conflict between state and federal law by initiating action during its last session. But the legislature chose not to do so, and the requirements of our constitution are such that the administrative headache cannot be solved prior to the 1972 presidential and congressional elections.

Our constitution provides that any enlargement of the voting franchise by enactment of the legislature must also be approved by referendum of the people at the next general election. And the next general election is in November, 1972. Or if the legislature chooses to act through an amendment to our constitution, the earliest such an amendment could be submitted for popular ratification is April, 1973.

Whichever method is chosen, however, the 1971 legislature should act promptly to bring state law into harmony with federal.

There is a concurrent problem which must be considered at the same time. Extension of the franchise to 18-year-olds brings up the question of where college students should vote, in their home communities or where they attend school.

We can understand the concern of cities like Madison, Milwaukee or even Whitewater, Stevens Point, De Pere or Appleton, with large college populations.

The Bureau of the Census counts students as part of the population of the city where their school is located. But this is not necessarily binding as far as voting franchises are concerned. The legislature will need to define place of residence more explicitly than present election laws provide in order to clarify where students shall vote.

Destroying Our Germ Weapons

The decision of President Nixon to have destroyed some $726 million worth of germ weapons produced for use against people is to be heartily commended even though the project is a dangerous one and will cost at least $12 million.

The stockpiles of biological killers have been maintained at several centers and no one has yet announced how much it is costing the American taxpayer to preserve the stuff at 40 degrees below zero. The Pentagon, receiving its orders, has announced that all care will be taken to avoid pollution or, we suppose, poisonous elements somehow getting into the atmosphere as they have now and then during testing procedures.

President Nixon some time ago announced that the United States would not inaugurate chemical warfare or use biological agents even if such methods were used against us first. Then there developed the hassle as to exactly what was chemical and what was biological because of the development of artificial ways of causing disease. Apparently this has not yet been ironed out.

Of even greater concern, however is how the biological and chemical warfare structure grew to its immensity. We've dumped tons of outmoded stuff into the Atlantic and still don't know what will happen to ocean waters if the metal canisters break open after a few years. No one wants the chemicals stored for years on Okinawa and we have had to remove them for the sake of good relations with Japan.

But who made the decision to continue with the development of these agents? Or was it just something that went ahead on its own, a Parkinson's Law project from the Pentagon that no one got around to discontinuing long after it was obvious that modern warfare had long passed the point of such materials being used or even being hoarded as a threat to an enemy?

Patterns of Adoption Changing

For many years there have been long lines of prospective adoptive parents waiting for white babies to take home. But the patterns are changing and for a number of reasons.

There are still many white prospective parents awaiting white babies and there are still those youngsters who are difficult to place — the black, the older children and those with serious physical or mental handicaps. But more racially mixed children are now wanted. And there are fewer white babies born out of wedlock being put up for adoption.

One reason obviously is the availability of better contraceptive information and methods to unmarried young women. Another is the change in both attitudes and legal restraints on abortion. Although the legality of Wisconsin's strict abortion law probably must still be decided in higher courts, the decision of a three judge Federal court panel that doctors could not be prosecuted under it at present has probably meant an increase in abortions. One Milwaukee hospital reported 50 legal abortions in 1968 and expects this year's total to be about 230.

There is also a change in attitude about a young woman having and keeping an illegitimate child. In part this may have come about because of adoptive proceedings themselves which have relaxed so that unmarried men or women are often permitted to adopt children. There is little question now but that sexual relations between unmarried partners have increased and no longer carry the stigma they did in the past. Once this attitude is accepted between two young people who feel they love each other but are opposed to the institution of marriage for one reason or another, the decision to have a child does not rest upon a marriage ceremony first in all cases.

The emphasis in recent months upon the dangers of the population explosion has also had its influence. Some young parents have had one or two children of their own and then decided to adopt others rather than contribute to the dangers of overpopulation. This trend is likely to continue as there is a considerable amount of idealism as well as concern for the environment among many young people.

But there are still the neglected, the unwanted, the unplaceable. Fortunately we seem to be moving in the right direction toward a look at children as individuals and not merely as extensions of ourselves.

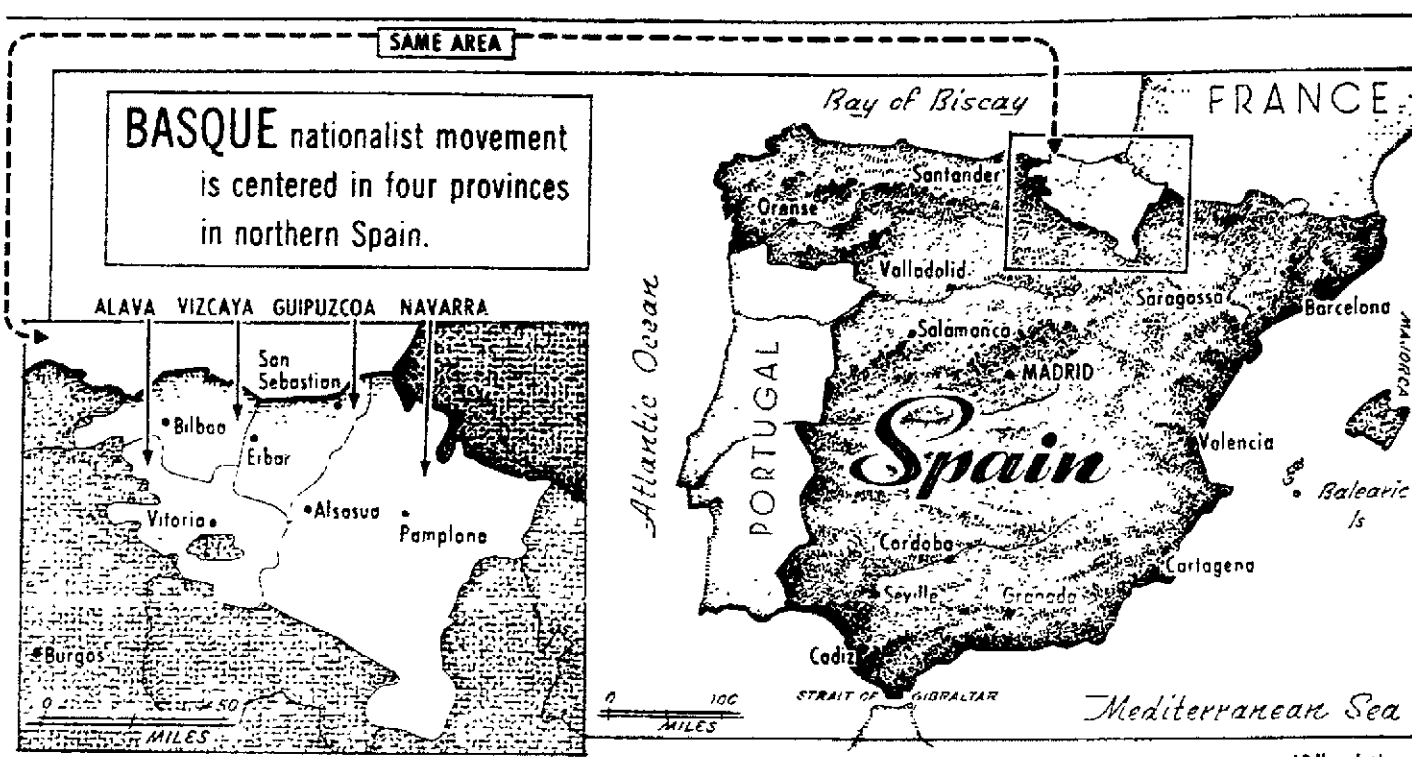

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The initials ETA remain a mystery to most average Spaniards, but present the government of Gen. Francisco Franco with perhaps the worst crisis in the ruler's 30-year reign.

ETA stands for Euzkadi Ta Askatasuna, meaning "Basque Land and Liberty." It is an organization of Basque activists which began in 1953 with the target separation from Spain and independence for the four Basque provinces in the northern part of the country. In the 1960s, it adopted terrorism and retaliation against police in an effort to gain its ends, contrasted with the means of the conservative Basque Nationalist party, in exile.

The showdown between the ETA and Franco came with the recent trial of 16 Basques, facing charges from banditry to terrorism and murder.

The court-martial touched off widespread strikes and was cited as the reason for the kidnapping of a West German diplomat by a group that claimed to belong to ETA.

The Basques, a race that was there when the Iberians came to Spain, live in all parts of the country. As a community, they center in four provinces — Guipuzcoa, Vizcaya, Alava and Navarre — as well as in three French departments near the border. Their culture is quite different from those of the Spaniards, with a unique language.

Although they represent less than 5 per cent of Spain's 33 million population, they enjoyed autonomy before Franco took power after the civil war ended in 1939. But, over the years, cultural restrictions and the abolition of limited autonomy changed their mild nationalism to more active forms.

Their standard of living tends to be better than elsewhere in Spain and they have a reputation as great sheepherders, eaters, drinkers and talkers.

The number of full-time urban guerrillas is estimated at 40 to 50 and sources say ETA has 500-part-time members called "based militants" and "thousands and thousands of sympathizers."

ETA operates often near the provincial capitals of Bilbao and San Sebastian and supports itself principally by donation — and robbery.

Now, with the trial of the 16 separatists, the Basques seem to feel they are all on trial.

Wisconsin Report

Warren Designated to Lead GOP Campaign for Revival

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — After eight weeks of sober contemplation of the events of Nov. 3, the Wisconsin Republican party establishment is inclined to believe that its reversals in the elections probably were not as calamitous as they appeared in the painful impact of the immediate event.

Leaders are now acknowledging what they dared not and could not confess during the rigorous campaign — that they started the fight with the knowledge that it would be a difficult one with the outcome probably uncertain.

They now see, with the brilliance that is characteristic of hindsight, that they were the victims of some elements beyond their control, including the sagging economy, an indifferent appeal of their nominee for United States Senator in spite of his valiant and plucky efforts, and some inexplicable troubles in their own camp. Not the least of these was the unexpectedly cool collaboration of their most popular campaigner of recent times, retiring Gov. Warren Knowles, in the drive of his teammate and successor nominee for governor, Jack Olson.

Could Have Cut Margin

That is not to say that the hardheaded men of the GOP as they assess the problems ahead are convinced that they could have won. But they are persuaded that the 55 per cent margin of Gov.-Elect Patrick J. Lucey, in what was by far the most important contest in November, could well have been reduced somewhat with luck.

It has been clear for a decade and a half that Wisconsin has permanently established a true two-party system. The defeat of a Republican incumbent governor in 1958 was perhaps as bitter a blow to the party as the defeat this year of a man who had not yet held the office. As in 1970, that election gave the Democrats control of the State Assembly.

The GOP lost another gubernatorial contest in 1962, but promptly came back to recapture the key place in state politics in the otherwise bleak year of 1964. The election for governor in 1964 turned on the troubles of the Democrat who won the governorship. In that recollection the Republican planners see reason for hope of a restoration of their fortunes.

Patrick J. Lucey confronts a variety of problems of difficulty and scope that are more challenging than those inherited by his good friend John W. Reynolds eight years ago. A significant difference is that Lucey will have four years to try to accommodate them, whereas Reynolds had only two.

Test To Come Soon

Nevertheless, there will be a test of Lucey's performance quickly in the legislative elections of 1972. Many of the Democratic legislators won marginally. If the Republicans can recover some of the seats lost, they will have begun a recovery that will be helpful for the next campaign for the governorship in 1974. Lucey, like Reynolds, enters office with the handicap of campaign postures, explicit or otherwise, that will be extremely difficult to honor, at best, and probably impossible.

Statistical evidence is less than conclusive, but Republicans almost to a man believe that they run more successful state and local campaigns in a presidential election year and that they will have such an advantage in the struggle to increase their legislative power in 1972.

There is also a tendency for even the hard heads in the GOP to interpret the election returns for what they clearly mean — that stand-patters do not run well in a competitive two-party system. A new emphasis upon moderation will emerge as the Republicans approach their next struggle. That Atty. Gen. Robert Warren should run nearly as well as the victorious Democratic gubernatorial nominee offered a lesson that has not been missed by the Republican planners in the party organization and the survivors in elective office concerned about their own careers.

Coleman Gives Signal

GOP Chairman Reed Coleman has given the signal. Warren is to be regarded as the successor nominee of the party for the governorship, at least until circumstances change or another personality emerges to offer a serious challenge.

Normally an attorney general does not have much opportunity to identify himself with broad policy although he has enviable opportunities to cultivate a personal identity through the manifold responsibilities and functions of his office. But events will show that such opportunities will be arranged, as when Warren is invited to appear at major legislative hearings this winter by the GOP legislative chieftains to offer the Republican position on the big issues which will fuel the campaign debates in 1972.

Church Entertainment Pleasing

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Post for Dec. 23, 1870.

At the Congregational Church Saturday evening last (Christmas Eve), one of the most pleasing entertainments of the season took place.

Santa Claus was there and distributed gifts among the children with almost prodigious profusion. Those of more mature years also were not forgotten.

The church having been handsomely decorated rendered the exercises all the more fascinating.

This is a modern and in many respects a commendable manner in distributing gifts. But for the real genuine happiness, give us the old-fashioned way of hanging up the stocking.

That will do us.

Laird on TV Reminds Writer of Duck Story

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

Seeing Mel Laird, Secretary of Defense, on T. V. Tuesday evening brought back to me a happening of my boyhood. I was about 14 and I and a pal went duck hunting. Stay of about five hours netted us one fish duck. Mergus Americanus-Cassin, a fowl so foul (no pun intended) because of its strictly fish diet that even the fish shun it, won't associate with it.

My pal wanted no part of it and then because my mother refused to cook it I tried. But after an hour of my culinary efforts had me gagging and retching, I took it and put it in the feed pan of Red Cloud, our redbone hound.

I forgot about the fishduck for a couple of days, then went to investigate just in time to see our dog carrying the duck through our back yard. Curious, I followed him. We lived about a block from the north edge of town and just outside the town limits lived a character, "Rich" Hixon. He was called rich because while some people had one cow he had several and supplied milk to some of the townspeople. Because of his boasting he was not well liked. Around his small farm were piles of manure or if you prefer, a dairy herd's gift to organic gardeners.

If the use of the word manure offends you, raises goose bumps on your finer sensibilities, pause for a moment and let your thoughts dwell on politics. Then, I assure you, manure piles will be, in your mind's eye, metamorphosed to the point where they will appear as lush growth of orchids in moist, tropical forests, orchids endowed with the ethereal fragrance of altar of roses.

To resume my story: I watched our dog, Red Cloud, go into Hixon's place, dig a hole in one of the manure piles, drop the rotting fishduck in the hole and cover it up.

What I'm trying to say is: if I, a non-politician, (for which I thank my Maker) an inept, politically, person tried to drag as many red herrings across the path of the American people as has Mel Laird in the past, I would begin to smell like that rotting fishduck that our dog buried in the manure piles of Rich Hixon.

State Legislature Should Investigate United Nations

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

Recently a Major Roberts was on a speaking tour of the U. S. He spoke in Green Bay, Milwaukee and Fond Du Lac. In his talks, he maintains that the United Nations Charter contradicts the U. S. Constitution and of the sovereign state. He states that the state legislatures must investigate the U. N. Charter. It is useless to write to congressmen to try to change the direction America is headed, he said.

Also said Major Roberts, the only power that the taxpayers have is through their state legislatures. As a result of his tour, there are petitions being circulated in various states urging the state legislatures to investigate the United Nations. I think this is a more that should be supported 100 per cent by the citizens of this state.

"YES, SIR, ANOTHER COMPLAINT ABOUT OUR PILOTS DUMPING EXCESS FUEL IN FLIGHT."

Joint Mouse a Bother, Should be Removed

BY G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you please explain what a joint mouse is? My sister has that condition in her knee, and we had never heard of it before. What causes it? Is it dangerous? Is it necessary to operate and remove it, or can it be dissolved? Is the operation a major one? — Mrs. H. H.

Occasionally an extra piece of tissue may occur in a joint space (knee or elsewhere). This tissue may be an accumulation of blood that has solidified, after a severe injury. It is not uncommon for the "mouse" to be bone, due to changes that occur with degenerative or osteoarthritis. It may be a fragment of cartilage — also the result of an injury. Any of these is a "joint mouse."

It isn't dangerous in the sense of being potentially fatal or anything like that, but it may (or may not) be painful, and a "trick" or "locked" knee can be the result.

Therefore, in my opinion, it certainly makes sense to have the "mouse" removed before it can incapacitate the joint. Such "mice," by the way, are usually discovered when the joint has been X-rayed.

Surgery is the only treatment. There is no way to dissolve the fragments.

Whether it's a "major" operation depends on what you mean by "major." It isn't the sort of thing that can be done in a doctor's office. It has to be in a hospital, but it isn't the sort of surgery that should alarm anyone.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send your booklet, "Help for Hypoglycemia (Low Blood Sugar)" for which I enclose 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Also, is hypoglycemia more prevalent in pregnancy? — Mrs. C. H.

No. The blood sugar tends to be a bit higher in pregnancy. Pregnancy may actually bring a potential diabetic to light.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I recently heard of a do-it-yourself Pap test. Does such a thing exist? — J. W.

Well, yes, to a certain extent. It is "do-it-yourself" to the extent that the patient obtains the sample to be sent to a laboratory for examination, instead of having the doctor do it. My impression, so far, is that it is better than no test at all, but not as reliable as having a physician obtain the sample and inspect the cervix directly.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 16 and every month when I start my period I have cramps so bad on the first day and sometimes the second day that I have to stay in bed. I can hardly walk.

I have tried pills and they don't help. I have a heavy flow. Should I have this checked by my doctor? — S. B.

Yes, by all means you should be checked. As to the cramps, two rather simple methods may make quite a difference — more than you suspect, until you've tried them for a time.

First, reducing the amount of salt on your food for the week before your period often helps. (Less fluid then accumulates in your tissues, and that can be a big factor in cramps.)

Second, more exercise — calisthenics, sports, whatever — may help. Tests with considerable numbers of college girls have shown conclusively that those getting a good deal of physical activity have noticeably less menstrual distress.

"Tips On How To Stop Smoking," by Dr. Thosteson, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Christmas Law

MULBERRY, Fla. (AP) — There's a special kind of ordinance in Mulberry—one that usually leaves convicted offenders happy. The "Christmas Law" applies only once a year.

Six motorists from the North turned and fussed and one even pleaded guilty before he heard about the annual law of Mulberry Friday. Only after Municipal Court Judge Carl Ellis finished a stern-faced lecture did the motorists learn why Police Chief Norris Nixon had pulled them in.

The judge, who doubles as mayor of this west-central Florida community, told them that police work hard and don't like their efforts going without reward.

"Because you were going to drive through Mulberry without stopping at city hall," Judge Ellis said, "the policeman had to bring you in to receive this gift box of fruit. Merry Christmas!"

The one-day ordinance was passed four years ago, making it illegal for an out-of-state motorist to pass through Mulberry without stopping to pick up a gift from the police department—so long as the supply of fruit holds out.

"Naturally, everybody we pick up thinks immediately that they're about to be fleeced of their vacation money by a small town cop and judge," Chief Nixon said.

"I pull them over, ask for their licenses and tell them to follow me to the police station. The fireworks start when I tell them they've broken the Mulberry Christmas law."

Nixon and Ellis make no effort to dispel the impression of a speed trap. One driver replied "guilty" when Ellis asked for a plea—without telling the charge.

The driver said he did it because he didn't believe there was a chance of beating a speed trap.

U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) My job requires me to keep in fairly close touch with some of my customers. To do this I must use my own car. Are my car costs deductible if I'm not reimbursed for them?

A) The use of your car on company business is a deductible expense to the extent that you are not reimbursed by your company. Driving back and forth from home to work, however, is a personal expense and not deductible.

Many taxpayers find that the standard mileage rate of 12 cents per mile for the first 15,000 miles and 9 cents a mile thereafter, is a convenient way to figure this deduction. It only requires a reading of your speedometer at the start and end of your business driving. Parking fees and tolls may be added to the mileage costs.

If you prefer, you may deduct the actual expenses of operating your car. Include depreciation, insurance and similar costs but be sure to prorate them between the business and personal use of the car.

Q) For some years I've provided a home for my father. If he moves to a nursing home because of ill health will we still be able to claim him as a dependent?

A) A close relative does not have to be a member of your household to qualify as a dependent. In the situation you describe, as long as the other dependency tests are met you may continue to claim your father as a dependent.

Furthermore, if your father is in a nursing home primarily because of the medical care provided there, the entire cost of his maintenance is considered a medical expense. If personal or family reasons prompted the decision for him to enter the home, only those expenses specifically for medical care will be considered deductible medical expenses.

Q) Can I deduct the pledge I made to my church's building fund drive?

A) No, however, you may deduct the amount you actually paid this year on your pledge as a charitable contribution. That part of your pledge which is paid in succeeding years may be deducted when paid.

Q) How does a farmer handle conservation expenses for tax purposes?

A) You may deduct some of these costs but must capitalize others. The cost of structures or facilities subject to depreciation must be capitalized with the costs recovered through annual depreciation allowances. This covers such items as water wells, pipes, tiles and concrete dams.

You may elect to deduct, within certain limitations, the costs of drainage ditches, diversion channels, earthen dams and ponds along with certain other expenditures. If you deduct these expenses you must do it the first tax year you have such expenses.

Details are contained in Publication 225, Farmers Tax Guide. It's available free from your County Agent or by sending a post card to your IRS District office.

Family Needs Help On Controlling Noise

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Hardboard Association recently received a postcard with the message: "Please send us the booklet on sound control. Our boy is taking drum lessons."

An association spokesman said the booklet was mailed promptly.

Tony Davis, right, a sailor stationed at Cam Ranh Bay, won a free Christmas trip home thanks to the generosity of J. Vernon Harwell, left, Albuquerque. Harwell had offered to pay the air fare for any serviceman from New Mexico who couldn't afford to take advantage of a new Vietnam leave policy. Davis jumped at the offer. Here, Harwell and Davis meet, for the first time, at the Albuquerque airport. (AP Wirephoto)

Resolution No. 10—presented by Supervisor Gibson — pertaining to the creation of a County Health Department. Gibson moved to adopt; second by Supervisor Schroeder. Mr. Gibson spoke lengthily on the resolution which was referred to the Health, Education and Institutions Committee for a study on the feasibility, advantages, and disadvantages of the proposed County Health Department and then report back to the County Board in June.

To The Honorable, The Outagamie County Board of Supervisors: Ladies and Gentlemen:

WHEREAS the primary value of a Public Health Program lies in prevention and early recognition of disease, and

WHEREAS at present, Outagamie County Health Services (except for the Public Health Nursing Service) are chiefly of a "complaint-answering" nature, and

WHEREAS citizens have a right to expect leadership in the area of health from professional people trained to recognize health needs and equipped to prevent the spread of hazardous health practices, and

WHEREAS utilization of such trained personnel is the most expeditious and economical in terms of money, time, and well-being for the members of our community; and

WHEREAS the capacities of the State Sanitariums, assigned to Outagamie and nine (9) other counties are severely overloaded, and

WHEREAS population in this area has greatly increased, and an increase in population is inevitably accompanied by an increase in problems of maintenance of healthful food and water supplies and safeguards against communicable disease, and

WHEREAS the County system of thirty-two (32) local Boards of Health, presently served by twenty-four (24) Health Officers of Health, is neither efficient nor equitable in its health services to the citizens of the County;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Outagamie County Board of Supervisors create and develop an adequate County Health Department in accordance with State Statute 140.09.

Respectfully submitted,
Kenneth H. Gibson.

The Chairman ruled the Resolution out of order which was then referred to the Legislative and Rules Committee and report back after the April Session.

To The Honorable, The Board of Supervisors of Outagamie County, Wisconsin:
WHEREAS, the administration of Outagamie County Airport has been done by a part time manager, and

WHEREAS, the Outagamie County Airport is developing into one of the finest airports in Wisconsin, and

WHEREAS, the additional duties necessary to continue its development require that a full time manager and clerical help be provided for the full time position;

NOW THEREFORE, with the support of the Personnel Committee the Airport Committee recommends adoption of the following resolution:

BE IT RESOLVED that Charles Olson be hired as full time airport manager on January 1, 1971 at a salary of $12,000.00 and that clerical help be provided in grade 6 for billing, bookkeeping, correspondence and office work and that these additional expenditures be included in the 1971 airport budget and

At Hope Show

State GI Given $5,000 in Gifts

SAIGON (AP) — Christmas was a day of surprises for Spec. 4 Robert Decker of Green Bay, Wis. He thought he would share the stage with Bob Hope and his beautiful entourage but instead won $5,000 worth of free gifts.

The 21-year-old Signal Corpsman was watching the comedy-anthology show at Long Binh when an officer asked for the identification cards of Decker and four others.

"The officer said we'd get a chance to go on stage with me," said Decker, "but that didn't pan out. Then the officer issued to a GI in Vietnam, and came back and said one of the cards would be drawn from a special gift pack—you know, the usual soap boxes and tooth brushes they give soldiers at Christmas."

Decker's card was drawn and he approached the stage expecting to receive a prize worth $9.

"There I was, kind of nervous, and Bob Hope started talking about this new car, TV, clothes and a vacation in Vegas," Decker said later. "I thought all the stuff was for him. When he said 'take me with you to Vegas; I suddenly realized 'Wow, that's all for me.'"

Police & Fire Beat

Victor H. Berg, 36, 3025 W. Wisconsin Ave., sustained a forehead bump Thursday evening when his car crossed over the center line on U.S. 10, a mile west of Appleton, and hit an auto traveling east on 10 driven by Henry F. Ruscher, 59, 817 N. Appleton St.

Three persons were taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by Larry's ambulance late Thursday morning when their vehicles collided in the intersection of Center Valley Road and Outagamie County Trunk A.

Frank H. Dettmann, 75, route 3, Appleton, suffered a head bump after he was thrown from his truck, according to county police. Two passengers in an auto driven by Roger L. Guex, 24, Milwaukee, were taken to the hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises.

Police identified them as Ann M. Guex, 22, and Theresa K. Guex, 2, both of the same Milwaukee address.

An accident late Friday afternoon at the intersection of Outagamie County Trunks N and K injured three persons, two who were treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital. County police identified the drivers of cars involved as Willard C. Butler, 40, 1619 S. Jefferson, St. Appleton, and Linda R. Hartzheim, 17, route 1, Menasha.

A passenger in the Butler car, Adris B. Butler, 40, same address, was advised to see a doctor for a head bump and sore knee. The Hartzheim girl went to the hospital for treatment of a head cut and sore shoulder, while her passenger, Becky M. Quella, 17, route 4, Appleton, sustained a head cut and complained of pain to the back and right knee.

Leon G. Ashauer, 611 Lincoln Ave., Kaukauna, told Appleton police Thursday night that two money bags, containing an undetermined amount of cash, checks and receipt slips, were taken from his unlocked car while it was parked in the lot of an Appleton tavern.

KAUKAUNA — Firemen were called at 4:15 a.m. Thursday to the Donald Kroll residence, 1805 Hendricks Ave., when furnace controls failed to function properly causing the furnace to overheat.

Arson Claimed in Milwaukee Fire

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Battalion Chief Charles Roth described as "obvious arson" a two-alarm fire which caused $35,000 damage Friday to a building which houses a cocktail lounge.

Five separate fires started with gasoline and candles were located in the structure when firemen reached the scene, he said.

The lounge, called the Bull Ring, was hit by two fires within four days last year and fire officials at that time said they also suspected arson.

Doctors Say Senator's Progress Encouraging

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., may have turned the corner in his fight against a respiratory infection, an aide says.

"The doctors are far more encouraged today than they were last week," the aide told newsmen Wednesday. "They say he's showing definite signs of improving."

Russell, 73, has been under treatment at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center for two weeks. His recovery was complicated by the lung ailment emphysema from which he has suffered for years.

The Law and You Prepare Personal Record for Family

BY THE WISCONSIN BAR

The beginning of a new year is always a good time to take stock of your personal situation, and to put your affairs in order. This year why not write out a personal record for those who must settle your estate after you are gone? This advice for your family should be done in addition to your will.

Your personal record, or family guide, can take many forms. However, regardless of the particular form that you choose, it should include a list of names, addresses, birth dates of yourself, your wife or husband, your children, father and mother. Also include the names of your trusted friends who can advise them.

Write in clear detail where to find: Your will, your executor's name and the banker who knows your business affairs; your certificate of birth, marriage, veteran's discharge and such papers; your deposit box and its key; the amount and beneficiary of each of your insurance policies; and your agents' names and addresses.

Aspin Pessimistic of Chance For Armed Services Seat

RACINE (AP)—Leslie Aspin, congressman, and because Rivers has a habit of "surrounding himself with committee members who are defenders of the military-industrial complex," his chances of winning a committee assignment are somewhat slim, Aspin said.

Several committee members have extra clout, he added because they "have large defense installations in their own districts."

"Rivers dislikes youth, outspoken opposition to the Vietnam war, Pentagon skeptics and the systems-analysis operation of the McNamara era," Aspin said.

"Many congressmen I have talked to feel that a different kind of person is needed on the Armed Services Committee," he added.

The new congressman, the only candidate to unseat a Wisconsin House incumbent in the Nov. 3 elections, said he is ready to challenge wasteful military spending.

The trained economist estimates $12 billion and more can be subtracted from the Defense Department budget without hampering national security.

He has expressed support for the McGovern-Hatfield measure, which would withdraw U.S. troops from Vietnam by the end of 1971.

Several committee members have extra clout, he added because they "have large defense installations in their own districts."

"Rivers dislikes youth, outspoken opposition to the Vietnam war, Pentagon skeptics and the systems-analysis operation of the McNamara era," Aspin said.

The former economic adviser to President Kennedy said his request to Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, included as qualifications his 1966-68 chairmanship of an economic advisory office under former Defense Secretary Robert McNamara.

The Marquette University professor also traveled five times to Vietnam during his years with the Kennedy-Johnson administration. He holds a doctor's degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Slim Chance

The Midwest, Aspin said, is severely under-represented on the Armed Services Committee. But because he is a freshman congressman, and because Rivers has a habit of "surrounding himself with committee members who are defenders of the military-industrial complex," his chances of winning a committee assignment are somewhat slim, Aspin said.

64-Unit FHA Building Application Submitted

MENASHA — The final application for a 64-unit apartment complex planned for the city's east side has been submitted to the Federal Home Administration (FHA).

The developers, A. L. Grootemaat and Sons, Milwaukee, are aiming at a spring construction start, according to James Stahlman.

Stahlman, who is handling the project for Grootemaat, said Wednesday that "the application is in the pipeline and we're still hoping for a spring start."

The $700,000 development will include 51 two-bedroom and 13 one-bedroom apartments. The one-bedroom complexes have been tentatively earmarked for rent supplement for families in the lower income brackets.

'Pretty Tight'

Stahlman pointed out that FHA funds at this point are "pretty tight," but he added, "the application is in and we're hoping for the fund reservation."

Commenting on the Menasha Housing Authority's (MHS) efforts toward getting a federal subsidizing housing project, Stahlman said, "We're not competing for the same clientele."

The MHA has found a need for about 200 units of low income housing after taking a survey of the city's senior citizen population.

The Grootemaat development, however, is not aimed at the same potential customers as is the housing authority, according to Stahlman.

Rents in the Grootemaat project will range from $110 to $130 a month. The complex will be located on 5 1/2 acres of land between Seventh Street and State 114.

The city plan commission already has granted a change of zoning which cleared the way for the development. Stahlman said all his firm needs at this point is a grant allocation from the state FHA office in Milwaukee.

However, he explained that the grant can't be made until the funds are made available by Congress.

Railroads Seek To End Ferry Service on Lake

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission has scheduled three hearings next month on railroad requests to drop service across Lake Michigan.

The first hearing, Jan. 18 at Green Bay deals with the Ann Arbor Railroad's ferry service from Frankfort Mich., to Manitowoc. Another hearing in Green Bay Jan. 20, involves Chesapeake & Ohio Railway service between Ludington, Mich., and Kewauunee.

In each case, the railroads say the other railroad provides the same ferry service on the run it wants to abandon.

And, a hearing will be held in Cheboygan, Mich., Jan. 25 on the Mackinac Transportation Co. request to give up its service between Mackinac City and St. Ignace, Mich.

Christmas Fire Kills 6 Persons

BLIND RIVER, Ont. (AP) — Six persons perished here Christmas night in a house fire which police believe started from an overheated stove.

The fire, which broke out shortly before midnight, destroyed the interior of a two-story frame house in this community, 90 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie.

Police have not identified the persons killed.

Appointments Would Cut Majority for Democrats

MADISON (AP) — There is speculation that Democratic Gov.-Elect Patrick Lucey may take away his party's two-thirds control in the Assembly by appointing two state representatives to executive posts.

Rumors indicate Democratic state Reps. John Radcliffe of Strum and William Johnson of Milwaukee will be appointed to posts by Lucey, taking away at least temporarily—the two-thirds majority which is important to make certain parliamentary maneuvers.

Radcliffe, 50, is said to be a candidate for state highway safety coordinator. And Johnson, 48, is said to be in line for appointment as chairman of the Division of Emergency Government.

Richard Weening, Lucey's executive secretary, said of the reports: "I can't confirm that. There has been a lot of talk about it."

Born assemblymen have been nominated to legislative committee chairmanships. If they are appointed to executive posts, Lucey would also have to call special elections to fill their legislative jobs, and new chairmen would have to be chosen.

The post which Radcliffe might get currently pays $19,144. And the job Johnson is reported to be getting pays $18,000. Both now earn $8,900 in their Assembly positions.

Neighbors Help Homeless Family

GRANTS PASS, Ore. (AP) — Neighbors and others responded quickly when fire left a family of 12 homeless Christmas morning.

There were immediate offers of help, contributions of cash, food, clothing and numerous household items for the family of V. O. Taylor.

The fire, partially covered by insurance, swept through the Taylor home just before dawn. The family was opening Christmas presents but escaped unharmed.

Taylor is disabled and unable to work. He lost his back braces in the blaze. By evening there were two offers to replace them.

3 Sons Reunited For Christmas

COMMERCE CITY, Colo. (AP) — After five years, Mrs. Rachel Jaramillo thought it was about time she had all three of her sons in the armed forces home for Christmas.

Steve, 22, and Jimmy, 18, were granted leave. But Ben, 23, was stationed on the aircraft carrier Enterprise and was not going to make it.

She called her congressman, Rep. Don Brozman, R-Colo., and the word apparently was passed down the line. Ben joined his brothers at home.

Unpopular Cat Rescues Family

OREM, Utah (AP) — Robert Weaver credits a cat he didn't particularly care for with saving the lives of his family of six in a Christmas morning fire.

Weaver said the cat jumped on his bed and continued to pester him until he got out of bed to throw the pet outside. Then he discovered his house was on fire.

The family escaped, but its $14,000 home was leveled.

Supported at Waupaca Tough Boating Rules Sought

KENOSHA (AP) — Eugene Dorff said, has been submitted to the Department of Natural Resources, along with Michigan regulations which already set age requirements.

Mrs. R. V. Anderson of East Troy, an official of the Federation of Lake Property Owners Association Inc., said her group is prepared to sponsor a delegation to legislative hearings on an age bill.

Koca reported Wednesday he has obtained written commitments from two organizations of lakefront property owners backing his campaign. One of them, he said, is the Chain-O-Lakes Property Owners Association of Waupaca.

Koca and his wife have been circulating petitions, asking for stronger water safety regulations, a minimum age of 16, and a requirement that any boat operator have an automobile driver license, or that a boat operator be accompanied by a licensed operator.

Although "no proposed legislation has been taken to the drafting room yet," a number of legislators have expressed interest in more rigid boating rules, Dorff said.

Bellaire Court Is One Family for Christmas

Christmas Eve is celebrated in a special way on Bellaire Court on Appleton's north side.

It was the 37th annual observance of this type by the families on the court. The festivities included a childrens' choir, a fathers' torchlight parade, a reading of the first Christmas story and a visit from Santa's helpers, complete with presents.

Homes on the court were decorated with large red and white wooden candy canes and the large tree in front of the Roy Wittwer Jr. residence, 12 Bellaire Ct., was decorated.

After the torchlight parade, residents of the court gathered at the Wittwer home for caroling and to hear Dr. Ralph Landis, 16 Bellaire Ct., tell the Nativity story.

During the story, Santa's helpers interrupted to distribute filled stockings to the children.

Mrs. Roy Wittwer and Mrs. John Stephan, 43 Bellaire Ct., were co-chairmen.

Christmas Fire Leaves Family of Seven Homeless

Rural Neenah Residents Lose Everything

NEENAH — A family of seven was left literally with nothing more than the clothing on their backs Friday, after a fire completely consumed their two-story frame home in the Town of Neenah on Christmas Day.

Boy Implicates Self, Others in Unsolved Area Crimes, Thefts

Three speakers taken from Meade Park were recovered by Appleton detectives Friday afternoon, from a young teenager who implicated himself and several others in that and several other unsolved crimes in the city over the past two years.

The boy, 13, told authorities he planned to use the speakers for a radio he received for Christmas. A young skater at the park alerted police earlier of the theft when he saw him and another boy cutting lead wires.

Detectives now have leads on a youth who allegedly shot out lamps in Telulah Park several months ago, plus break-ins at three service stations and a garage theft.

The cases, all involving persons under 18, were turned over to juvenile authorities.

bouer and their five children ranging in age from 7 to 13, had left their home at 1515 Winchester Road about 9 a.m. to spend Christmas with relatives in Winneconne.

At 11 a.m., a neighbor spotted the fire and called the towns of Neenah and Menasha volunteer fire department. The home was completely destroyed including all the family's belongings.

There was no insurance on the contents.

Appeal for Clothing

The Twin Cities Chapter of the American Red Cross has issued an appeal for clothing and household furnishings and a place to live. The telephone number is 722-4196.

Mrs. Stoegbauer said that "everything in the house was destroyed." This included all the childrens' Christmas gifts and a new little puppy.

According to fire department officials, the fire apparently started when the coal furnace overheated. The house was owned by George Strohmeier.

The Red Cross appeal lists the family as "needing everything, especially clothes."

Mrs. Stoegbauer is especially interested in finding a place for herself, her husband and five children to live.

3 Boys, 2 Girls

The family includes three boys and two girls. The boys are ages 13, 12 and 10 and wear sizes 12 slim, 12 regular and 10 regular.

The girls are ages 7 and 8 and wear sizes 8 and 10. Stoegbauer wears a 14-14½ shirt and 32 waist, 29 length slacks. His wife wears a 16-18.

The Stoegbauers now are staying with relatives at 182 Plummer Court in Neenah which has been established as the central collection point for clothes.

According to the fire department, the furnace had been stoked just before the family left for the day.

Three trucks and 28 volunteers answered the alarm.

Sen. Lotto Predicts More Moderation in 1971 State Legislature

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The voters of Wisconsin in November had a message for the men who run their state government, says State Sen. Myron Lotto of Green Bay, and the legislators who will return to their chambers in January have understood it and probably will act accordingly.

"There will be a trend toward moderation from both the right and the left," said the Republican Senate representative of Brown and Calumet counties in a year-end message to his constituents forecasting the attitude of the legislature which will operate with Democrats in secure control of the Assembly and the Republicans with nearly a solid control over the State Senate.

"Conservatives and liberals will be drawn a little closer together on many issues. I believe this was the story that the voters were trying to tell at the polls in November," he wrote.

Lotto's term will expire in 1972. His district, like most others, showed a stronger turnout of Democrats in the last elections. Lotto's Senate district now is equally divided between the parties for Assembly representation. It includes two Democrats and two Republicans.

Police said the water department was working on a broken water main near Rankin Street where the mishap occurred.

Amber lights and flashers were operating on the truck, police said.

Three persons were trapped inside.

With fire department floodlights lighting the overturned car, police used a hacksaw to slice a windshield post and remove glass. Bauman was removed from the demolished car with a broken leg, cuts and bruises. He, and a passenger, Gary R. Petroff, 24, Black Creek, who sustained cuts and bruises, were taken to the hospital by Larry's ambulance.

A third person also was extracted from the car, but authorities, who said his injuries were minor, failed to identify him.

Police said the water department was working on a broken water main near Rankin Street where the mishap occurred.

Amber lights and flashers were operating on the truck, police said.

Three persons were trapped inside.

With fire department floodlights lighting the overturned car, police used a hacksaw to slice a windshield post and remove glass. Bauman was removed from the demolished car with a broken leg, cuts and bruises. He, and a passenger, Gary R. Petroff, 24, Black Creek, who sustained cuts and bruises, were taken to the hospital by Larry's ambulance.

Co-op Among 5 Being Sued

Outagamie Producers Co-op, Black Creek, has been named as one of five Wisconsin cooperatives in a $4 million anti-trust suit by a Chicago dairy.

Sidney Wanzer and Sons Inc., Chicago, charged the five cooperatives, and Associated Milk Producers, Inc. (AMPI), with violating the Clayton Anti-Trust Act.

Wanzer's action filed Wednesday in U.S. Circuit Court, claims the co-ops joined to restrain it from purchasing milk. The milk was marketed by Central Milk Producers Co-operative, formed by a group of operating co-ops, through Pure Milk Association, (PMA) a branch of AMPI.

Outagamie Producers Co-op, a member of CMPC, has sold milk to the Wanzer dairy in the past, according to Lavern Swenson, Berlin, general manager. "We've shipped a lot of milk to Wanzer,"

Swenson said he has not consulted CMPC attorneys about possible action to counter the suit and declined to comment on the charges.

"I'm not in a position to make any statement," said Swenson. The $3 million is being sought from Alto Co-operative Creamery, Alto, CMPC, Lake to Lake Dairy, Manitowoc; Central Milk Sales Agency, Wisconsin Dairies Cooperative, Barraboo; and Associated Milk Producers Inc.

AMPI also is faced with an additional $1 million suit in the action.

Truman Torgerson, Manitowoc, general manager for Lake-to-Lake Coop, denied charges the CMPC organization has discriminated against Wanzer dairy.

"We haven't denied Wanzer any milk."

Wanzer claimed the CMPC notified the dairy Dec. 10 that shipments of milk were being terminated. The dairy also has been receiving milk from the National Farmers Organization (NFO), as well as CMPC.

Wanzer was affected Dec. 1 when CMPC notified Chicago dairies prices for milk would be the same terms, the same increased to dealers not purchasing major supplies from dealers are getting."

Wanzer's suit had claimed the dairy was "forced to submit to such terms that are exacted," by Central Milk Producers Co-operative. There are 20 co-ops in the CMPC.

Torgerson said the actions of CMPC were simply price adjustments. "To the best of our knowledge we're within the law all the way around."

Under the Capper-Volstead Act cooperatives are enabled to bargain for prices with privileges similar to those enjoyed by labor unions.

Wanzer Dairies have received treatment equal to that of other Chicago dealers, said George Gould, Waupun, who is the president of Chicago-Lake Coop.

Records Noted

Gould said his records show CMPC shipped milk to Wanzer dairy during November but that December records have not been compiled.

"My opinion is they (CMPC) have not refused to sell them (Wanzer Dairy) milk if they were willing to pay our announced price," said Gould.

A St. Paul attorney will represent the Wisconsin cooperatives in the action which Gould said was only a continuing court battle between Wanzer Dairy and the sales organization.

"We've been in court with these guys for three years."

Chimney Fire Makes Things Too Hot for Santa at One House

Santa tried to enter a southside home Christmas Eve, but things got too hot.

Fire fighters went to the home of Dick Van De Weghe, 1826 S. Sanders St., shortly after 11 p.m. on the report of a chimney fire. Van De Weghe had extinguished most of the fire before they arrived. Officials further extinguished the blaze when they arrived, opened a damper and let it burn out.

Two units were at the scene for 25 minutes. One fire fighter said a heavy set man garbed in red was seen leaping from the chimney moments before they stopped in front of the residence.

Snowmobile Club Invites Members

MANAWA — Craig Shambeau, vice president of the Winter Wolves Snowmobile Club has issued an invitation to area families to become members of the group.

Craig points out the purpose of a typical snowmobile club is "to provide a schedule of events that is fun for everyone."

The club's "trail committee" has the responsibility of gaining landowners' permission, making signs, marking and maintaining the trails.

Craig feels in "unity there is strength." The local club can represent a voice in making recommendations to legislative bodies regarding snowmobile laws and usage of registration money.

The Winter Wolves Snowmobile Club, a nonprofit organization, has no rules, requirements or restrictions that would be objectionable to anybody interested in good safe winter fun.

This winter's calendar of events includes a family outing every other week with a cookout or potluck. Adult rides are being scheduled for once a week with emphasis on cross country trips to neighboring club areas. There also are tentative plans for afternoon-evening dinner rides.

The Christmas Party is scheduled at Cedar Springs on Dec. 27.

Membership in the club can be obtained by contacting the membership committee, which includes Kenneth Groholski, Jerry Sabrowsky and Leon Mondlock.

Here lies the Spirit of Christmas Past.

Too much turkey and that extra sliver of plum pudding make even his eyelids heavy.

He sprawls on the couch, angled awkwardly between the heap of discarded gift-wrap and the box of plastic dishes temporarily forsaken there by one of the giggling urchins now playing under the tree.

This slumbering Spirit in sock-feet seems an unsightly deposit, surrounded as he is by festive ornaments and tinsel'd flossam of the holiday now duly observed
